Reason for Visit

De Gaulle, Expo Point Up 'Fact'

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Friday the state visit of President de Gaulle of France will likely make Canadians more aware of what he called the French "fact" in Canada. (See also Page 12).

★ ★ ★

He compared the possible effects of the de Gaulle visit with Expo 67, the world's fair which he said is contributing toward greater awareness of the existence of about 6,000,000 Canadians whose mother tongue is French.

The premier said it was only normal that there have been disagreements at the protocol level between federal and Quebec officials over details of the de Gaulle itinerary.

Johnson

These disputes "reflect the political situation," he said.

"It remains that the international competence of the provinces, particularly the province of Quebec, is in full evolution."

Mr. Johnson described de Gaulle as among great world leaders such as Winston Churchill "who have forged the history of the world." He was asked if de Gaulle might perhaps do some forging of Canadian history during the visit.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. de Gaulle is not coming here to play in Quebec politics," he replied. "The primordial goal of his visit is to repay kindness. We have been received royally in Paris."

Seniors' Title Won By Victoria Golfer

Victoria's Dr. George Bigelow fired a three-over-par 70 at Halifax Ashburn Golf Club, Friday, to win the Canadian Seniors' Golf championship with a 54-hole total of 208. Dr. Bigelow carded a pair of 69s on the first two days of the tournament and led from the start. (See Page 10.)

Assembly Gives Up

REDS, ARABS SPLIT IN UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) —A major split developed between the Soviet Union and the Arab countries Friday night when the United Nations General Assembly voted to send the Middle East crisis back to the Security Council.

The entire Soviet bloc supported the resolution, which passed by 63 votes to 26, with 27 abstentions, while the Arab countries voted solidly against it.

The resolution's sponsors, Sweden, Finland and Austria, amended it slightly at the last moment in an unsuccessful effort to win Arab support.

FRANCE ABSTAINS

Canada voted for the resolution, as did the United States, Britain and most other Western countries. France abstained.

India, which has taken a strong pro-Arab line in the Middle East debate, also voted in favor of the move.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, speaking after the vote, declared that "the imperialist forces who stand behind Israel" prevented the 122-country assembly from adopting a decision on the main question. This, in his view, was "the immediate withdrawal of the Israeli forces from occupied territory."

BLAMES U.S.

He said the United States bears the main responsibility "for all actions imbued with the spirit of hostility towards the Arab states."

But it had significant support from the Latin American countries as well as from the NATO military bloc, he declared.

"The Soviet people harbor profound respect for the peoples of the Latin American countries," Gromyko said. "The Soviet Union strives to maintain good relations with them. It was depressing for us, and we are sure for others, too, to witness the picture that took place almost before everybody's eyes—the picture of rude pressure brought to bear by the United States upon the governments of the Latin American countries where all levels of coercion were used."

'TEMPORARILY'

In adopting the resolution presented by Sweden, Finland and Austria, the assembly also voted to adjourn its emergency session "temporarily." While there was no immediate indication how soon the council would

Lytton Tragedy

Four Board Ferry Vanish in Fraser

LYTTON, B.C. (CP)—Four persons were missing and presumed drowned Friday after driving a car off the end of a cable ferry into the fast-flowing Fraser River.

Police identified the missing as Ray Mason, 53, of Chilliwack, B.C., and Angela Oates, 58; James Adams, 72, and his wife Harriet, 68, all of Lytton.

Police said the missing car could be anywhere from the point it entered the water to up to two miles downstream. They said it drove aboard the landed ferry, but kept going off the other end.

The ferry, which connects a small community across the river, has been the subject of controversy in recent weeks. Mothers in the area have protested to Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi that the ferry was unsafe for school children to use.

Johnson May Speak To Save Tshombe

Tshombe leaves Algiers court

Mobutu Owes U.S. Favor

By DAVID KRASLOW
Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has decided to intercede privately with Congolese president Joseph Mobutu to try to save the life of former Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe.

This was learned Friday after Algeria's supreme court voted to approve The Congo's request for the extradition of Tshombe.

Tshombe was condemned to death by a military court in absentia last March 13 on a charge of treason and he faces the prospect of execution by a firing squad upon his return to The Congo.

Mr. Johnson will not appeal to Mobutu, it was understood, unless the execution appears imminent. Although Mobutu was behind Tshombe's ouster in October, 1965 and the treason trial, he could commute the sentence.

DOUBT RAISED

However, a statement by Mobutu in Kinshasa after the Algerian verdict was announced raised doubt whether he would be lenient. Mobutu said Tshombe had been sentenced by the Congolese courts and "for us he is a dead man."

Mr. Johnson's appeal would be based primarily on humanitarian grounds. It is expected the president also would advise Mobutu that Tshombe's execution would unduly arouse political passions in a country that has been sundered by rebellion and economic chaos almost from the time it obtained independence from Belgium in 1960.

'CIA PLOT'

Ironically, before the court announced its ruling in Algiers, Tshombe told the judges: "I'm the victim of an American CIA plot."

Asked about Tshombe's claim, state department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "There is no truth whatsoever to that statement."

Tshombe, accused of fronting for Belgian mining interests when he attempted to seize power in The Congo, also has substantial backing among conservatives in this country.

IN HIS DEBT

Mr. Johnson put Mobutu in his debt this month when he heeded Mobutu's plea for help during one of The Congo's periodic rebellions. The dispatch to The Congo by Mr. Johnson of three Air Force transport planes and 126 servicemen evoked bitter criticism from congressmen who felt the United States was involving itself in somone else's business.

Guard Call-Out Doubled To Cool Off Minneapolis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National guardsmen were on duty on the predominantly-Negro north side of Minneapolis Friday night to curb any violence.

Minnesota Governor Harold LeVander ordered 600 guardsmen into the area—double the number requested by Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin.

The mayor said the troops were needed both to contain possible further violence and give hard-pressed city police a breather.

TWO NIGHTS

The north side had been the scene of rock throwing, car tipping and fire-starting for two consecutive nights.

Englewood, N.J. police battled gangs of rock-hurling Negro youths. Three policemen were injured.

No arrests were reported.

Meanwhile in Cairo, Ill., city, state and federal officials conferred Friday on action to be taken to satisfy that city's Negro community that something is being done about their demands for new job opportunities, organized recreation programs and an end to alleged police brutality.

SHOOTINGS THREATENED

Young Negroes in Cairo had warned city officials Thursday that unless action is taken on their demands by Sunday there would probably be more shooting and fire bombings such as broke out last Sunday and Tuesday nights.

Cairo police ordered an 8 p.m. curfew and said they would enforce it strictly to keep people off the streets after dark.

PROTECTION THERE

Mayor Lee Stenzel and city commissioners conferred with federal and state representatives on action to satisfy the Negroes. The mayor also assured Cairo citizens there is adequate police protection for life and property.

In Minneapolis, Negro spokesmen have cited living conditions and lack of job opportunities for the two nights of violence.

Less than 3 per cent of the Minneapolis population is Negro but many are concentrated in semi-slum sections of the north side. It is an old area of frame homes, some shared by several families.

Mayor Naftalin said Friday: "Ninety-nine per cent of the Negro community are terribly distressed by these incidents. The people behind them are beyond our reach."

New York Submits Queen Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The city of New York, which has welcomed the aging superliner Queen Mary in peace and in war, submitted a formal bid of about $2,000,000 Friday to buy the vessel.

If the Cunard Steamship Co. accepts the city's bid—and the city fathers provide the money—the 1,019-foot, 81,237-ton vessel will be converted into a floating high school accommodating 3,000 students, to be docked at the old Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Drizzle Of Hope In Air

A thunderstorm gave western farmers their first glimmer of hope Friday for an end to the drought which has withered many crops in the fields, but the storm also devastated several areas with severe hail.

The storm centre crossed into Alberta from British Columbia early Friday and covered an area from Calgary to 50 miles north of Edmonton and from the foothills to Coronation and Vermilion.

ELBOW, Sask. (CP) — Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher told a news conference near here Friday the federal government has agreed "in essence" to pay 50 per cent of government support costs for emergency hay shipments in this drought stricken province.

Eight Die In Climbs

ZURICH (UPI) — Eight European climbers fell to their deaths from Swiss alpine slopes and peaks Friday, police said. In one instance, four men plunged to their doom while trying to climb the dreaded "Killer Wall" of the Eiger north wall.

Campbell River

Salmon Canners Under Grit Fire

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault has asked the federal government to investigate charges that U.S. visitors are taking and canning "excessive and illegal" numbers of salmon in the water around Campbell River. (See story, picture, Page 32.)

He wired Fisheries Minister Robichaud in Ottawa Friday after discussing the problem with Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan here.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

Mr. Kiernan, meanwhile, said the problem has been brought to his attention recently, but added while B.C. is interested it has no jurisdiction over salt water fisheries. He said no provincial investigation would be launched.

"I can only speak about fresh water fisheries, which are in our jurisdiction," the minister said. "Each year between 175,000 and 185,000 anglers licences are issued and it would be remarkable indeed if there were not some abuses. Generally speaking, however, I think the vast majority of fishermen comply reasonably well with regulations."

ILLEGAL NUMBERS

Mr. Kiernan said while there is no wholesale abuse of the B.C. fisheries resource it would be erroneous to suggest there are no infractions.

Mr. Perrault's wire to Ottawa said: "Allegations here that excessive and illegal numbers of saltwater salmon are being taken and canned by visiting sports fishermen in Campbell River area.

"After conferring with the Minister of Recreation and Conservation, Mr. Kiernan, I suggest your department undertake an immediate investigation into the situation."

Train Kills Luthuli

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Former Zulu chieftain Albert Luthuli, 69, one of the most distinguished leaders of the Negro people in white-ruled South Africa, was killed Friday when struck by a freight train.

Luthuli, winner of the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize, died in hospital of injuries suffered when hit by the train as he walked across a railway bridge at Stanger, 30 miles north of here.

The former chief, going blind as a result of a stroke suffered several years ago, had been restricted to an area around his home at Stanger under the Suppression of Communism Act since 1959.

Under the restriction order, he was not allowed to attend public gatherings or make speeches and his statements were not allowed to be published in South Africa.

But even in restriction, he remained a strong spiritual leader to the Negro people.

The government relaxed the travel restrictions in 1961 to allow the veteran scholar and politician to travel to Oslo, Norway, to accept the Nobel Peace Prize.

At the awards ceremony,

Radioactivity Suspected in TV Sets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unknown owners of some 9,000 large-screen color television sets were told by the U.S. government Friday to disconnect them immediately pending a check on possible radioactivity.

The television sets involved are large-screen color consoles and table models made by the General Electric Co. in the U.S. and purchased between Sept. 1, 1966, and May 31, 1967. Small-screen color and black-and-white receivers are not involved.

A spokesman for GE said the sets involved are those having 18-, 21-, and 23-inch screens, diagonal measurement.

Surgeon-General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service issued the warning after General Electric, despite a nationwide search, reported failure to locate about one-tenth of the sets the company suspected of emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

Dr. Stewart said tests of tubes supplied by the manufacturer indicated that a "large percentage" of the tubes leaked radiation at levels "representing potential hazards to human health."

Soviet Bloc, Arabs Split in Assembly Vote

meet, diplomats were doubtful that this emergency session of the assembly would be reconvened. The problems of the Middle East are expected to be taken up by the assembly again at its next regular session, which begins late in September.

The emergency session, which began June 19, was requested by the Soviet Union in order to obtain condemnation of Israel as an aggressor against Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Iraq and to put the weight of the assembly behind its demand for unconditional Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory.

The assembly rejected these proposals. A pro-Arab resolution introduced by Yugoslavia with Soviet support, which concentrated solely upon unconditional withdrawal, got a simple majority amid numerous abstentions, and failed to win the necessary two-thirds majority.

The Latin American countries proposed that Israel withdraw on condition that the Arab countries end their avowed state of belligerency against Israel. This resolution also failed to get a two-thirds majority.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel said Friday night that his country "leaves the General Assembly with strengthened resolve to work for a just and a durable peace."

As adopted, the three-country resolution declares that the assembly:

- Requests Secretary-General U Thant to forward the records of this emergency session of the assembly to the Security Council, in order to facilitate the resumption by the council, as a matter of urgency, of its consideration of the tense situation in the Middle East.
- Decides to adjourn its session temporarily and to authorize the assembly president, Abdeul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan, to reconvene the session as and when necessary.

Gibraltar Vote Set for Sept. 10

LONDON (AP) — The people of Gibraltar will decide by referendum Sept. 10 whether they want to remain under British sovereignty or transfer their allegiance to Spain, the Commonwealth office announced Friday night.

Luthuli Killed

Luthuli said he regarded the honor as "a recognition of the sacrifices made by the peoples of all races in South Africa, particularly the African Negro people who have endured and suffered so much for so long."

He was elected chief of the Abasemakholweni tribe and from there he began his long struggle for the rights and freedoms of the black people of South Africa.

He became president of the African National Congress in 1952 and the government dismissed him as chief when he declined the alternative of resigning from the congress. The congress was banned in 1960.

When the restriction order was imposed on him in 1959, the justice minister said he was satisfied Luthuli had engaged in "activities furthering the cause of Communism."

Luthuli was fined about $300 in 1962 for burning his reference book, or pass, as a protest against South Africa's laws restricting the movement and employment of Negroes.

A six-month prison term also was imposed but suspended for three years on condition he was not convicted of a similar offence during that time. He had already served three months in jail.

He was elected to the honorary post of rector of Glasgow University in 1962 but was not allowed to travel to Scotland. In the same year, he published his autobiography, Let My People Go, which was banned a few months later in South Africa.

BILL THOMAS' NOTEBOOK

REMEMBER WHEN?: Royal Jubilee Hospital chairman Courtney Haddock's short memory is matched by his good intentions.

He suggests that the patients be made to pay more for hospital services so that the hospitals can be put on a pay-as-you-go basis.

After all those years in the retail trade, Mr. Haddock seems to have forgotten why he has to dun his customers for an extra 5 per cent.

Perhaps in a short time, if he gets his way, we will see $1.40 Day at the Royal Jubilee and the competition at St. Joseph's will have to offer fracture casts at three for $1.

REALLY, NOW: A Brentwood farmer got the wind up when two of his bulls escaped and headed off toward Butchart Gardens.

The farmer phoned Central Saanich Police Chief Brownlee to warn him of the impending danger to the gardens as the bulls ran off.

The conversation must have been a bit garbled in the excitement for the police chief thought the farmer had said his two boys had run away to the gardens. The chief muttered into the phone, "Don't worry, they have very good security arrangements out there and they will not think of letting them in unless they pay." Which left the farmer wondering just a bit.

SONIC BOOM: The big question is: Did the Golden Centennaires get a special permit to make all that racket over the hallowed ground of Esquimalt during the spectacular show?

The zooming jets must have violated the anti-noise bylaw right from the start of the show. Possibly they are covered by the same exemption clause that permits the anguished cries of the Esquimalt council when subjected to criticism.

GALLERIES GALORE: It's getting so art galleries seem to be springing up from between the cracks in the pavement.

Latest is the new Mike Hartley venture at 512 Fort; it's called the Odalisque. Not a soul seems to know why it got the name.

The gallery is to be launched officially tonight at 8 with featured artist Gathie Falk of Vancouver in attendance.

The Odalisque show includes paintings and pottery by the Manitoba-born artist and as might be expected most of the offerings are for sale.

The venture is an extension of Mr. Hartley's successful Art Market.

FORGOTTEN MAN: All sorts of praise has been dumped on the heads of those associated with the restoration of Bastion Square.

But did you ever hear of Marshall McCullough? No. Well he is responsible for much of the visual beauty of the square.

Marshall is the man who cleaned all the stonework on the drab buildings in the restoration project, with the exception of the Board of Trade edifice.

He also gussied up the Bank of Montreal building on Government that stands at the opening of the lane that leads to the square.

Congratulations and a tip of the bowler to Marshall McCullough for his beautification job.

MEMO TO JACK: When the awards committee for the Order of Canada meets they would do well to consider the name of Indian carver and artist Henry Hunt.

He is a distinguished Canadian whose work is in demand by galleries and museums around the world. Mr. Hunt has made a significant contribution toward the advancement and development as well as the preservation of Indian art.

That is a good enough citation so perhaps Labor Minister Jack Nicholson can take it from here.

Total Deafness Could Result From Chronic Ear Infection

Your Good Health

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My boy friend went swimming three years ago and developed serious ear trouble. His doctor said he had a perforated ear drum, and gave him some pills which he said might or might not stop the running from his ear.

He also told him an operation could be performed but might damage his hearing.

He used the pills for a while but noted no change and discontinued using them. He has stopped going to the doctor, and just puts cotton in his ear to absorb the running. What will help? besides a hearing aid? — MISS G.M.G.

Your reference to a hearing aid indicates that his hearing already is affected, but he is running a greater risk than that.

The running ear indicates that a chronic infection is present. There is no reason to expect it to get better by itself. It may get worse, and this sort of infection can leave a person totally deaf. There is even the risk of the infection spreading and becoming extremely dangerous.

I would guess that the doctor soft-pedalled the idea of an operation three years ago because he wanted to see whether the infection could first be controlled medically. That's doubtless what I would have done — then.

But now, after the infection has persisted for three years, it's an entirely different matter. I'd send the young man off to an ear specialist without delay.

Immediate and thorough care now, perhaps an operation, may save his hearing and may save him from worse troubles.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am only in my first year of high school but already have my mind made up to study medicine. What colleges could I send away to for catalogues? — E.N.

This is a switch. Instead of advising a reader to "see your doctor," this time I can say "see your school counsellor." That's what they're for. Hope you stick to your decision to enter medicine.

Note to Mrs. T.T.: Surgery for removal of a pilonidal cyst is, in my opinion, the proper course, particularly when you have trouble with it repeatedly.

Our target:
complete utilization

To us the word "utilization" means two things. Putting each tree we harvest to its best end use. And equally important, using as much as we can from each.

The future of every tree is determined from the moment we harvest it. Straight, prime specimens are destined for our plywood and lumber mills, where they can be used to maximum value. The other trees will be converted into pulp, newsprint and other paper products.

The log shown above is a Douglas fir, specially selected for plywood production because it's sound and has few knots. From an average 36" diameter log like this, we peel off up to an eighth of a mile of plywood veneer. The thin top part of the tree, not suitable for veneer or lumber, will reach the markets of the world as pulp. Section 1, the bark, will be used as fuel to produce steam power for our plant machinery. The high-grade veneer used to make plywood comes from Section 2.

Section 3 – the core – is reduced to chips for pulp. Substandard veneer clippings are used in the pulping process, while trimmings from finished plywood panels are converted to Pres-to-Logs for household fuel. Even the wood dust from saws and sanding machines is made into Prest-to-Logs or used as fuel for generating steam.

Complete utilization conserves vital forest resources and guarantees that every tree we harvest today will provide a full measure of prosperity in this province. That's our target. We're finding new ways to hit it every day.

U.S. Deficit Biggest Since 1959

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. government said Friday it ended fiscal 1967 with the largest administrative budget deficit in eight years: $9,-908,000,000.

The figure was a billion below government predictions in May, while guesses at the deficit in fiscal 1968 range from 13 to 29 billions. Soaring Vietnam war costs amounted for almost all of the fiscal 1967 loss.

By, For Negroes

Arrest Help Soon

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Black Power leaders at a national unity conference announced Friday their first direct move to aid hundreds of Negroes arrested during recent rioting that left 25 persons dead in Newark.

A group, calling itself the Black Survival Committee, has organized to raise funds for legal defence of Negroes. Its leaders include Black Nationalists, delegates to the Black Power meeting and playwright LeRoi Jones, arrested in the riot area on charges of carrying weapons.

MOOD GROWS

The Black Power conference delegates—their number swelling to 700—reflected a growing mood of alienation from white society as they sought ways to develop self-help programs.

At a news conference Friday, Floyd B. McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said no person "in his sane mind" could predict there would be no further violence this summer.

WHITE PICKET HIT

Even as McKissick spoke, a lone white picket appeared in front of the conference hotel headquarters and was immediately knocked down by a Negro man, witnesses said.

Four police cars quickly arrived, witnesses reported, and officers with their weapons drawn took the white man from the scene. There were no arrests.

Delegates, drawn from a wide range of Negro views, worked here in a strictly business atmosphere. Outside the conference sessions, in interviews, casual talks and news conferences, some participants voiced anger, bitterness and distrust of white America.

'TOO LATE'

"It's too late, too late to remedy the racial situation in this country," said a well-known delegate, asking his name be withheld. The conference formally voted to exclude whites, including reporters, Thursday night and called on participants to refuse individual interviews.

The delegate said racial alienation had gone past "that point of no return" and the future holds more violence, perhaps guerrilla-type action by some of the new "revolutionaries."

'WHITEY'S A DEVIL'

Black Nationalist Ron Karenga of Los Angeles told the conference's opening session: "Everybody knows whitey's a devil; the question is, what are you going to do about it?"

In the workshops, however, the dominant concern was how to develop sensitive, workable programs and involve the American Negroes in a strong, united movement to better their lot.

Powell Absent

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Deposed Harlem Democratic congressman Adam Clayton Powell stood up both extreme and rightist Negroes Friday.

The Black Power convention in Newark expected him to speak and moderate Negroes expected to arrange his arrest in New York on many long-standing charges. But Powell stayed in his retreat in Bimini, where he'll hold a press conference today.

Clarification

FEW CANADIANS will object to Prime Minister Lester Pearson's position in regard to the problem of Arab refugees as he outlined it in a recent letter to Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Courtenay Haddock.

In redefining his views on the vexatious subject, Mr. Pearson frankly admits that his earlier statement on the matter before the House of Commons was open to misinterpretation.

And this, indeed, was the case as far as his official statement, made on June 14, was concerned. What he said at that time gave the impression both at home and abroad that Canada was willing to immediately open her doors to several thousands of displaced Palestinian Arabs.

Clarifying his stand, Mr. Pearson said in his letter that he does not consider that the problem can be settled by scattering Arab refugees among many countries.

"The most important contribution," he writes, "would provide for their settlement in the Middle East through an economic program in that area which would make it possible for them to support themselves."

But, he adds, there are some who will wish to emigrate and if there is a United Nations program for such immigration, Canada will have to accept a certain number, as well as the obligation to train and prepare those accepted for immigration into our population.

Summing up, the prime minister states: "As I see it the problem is threefold: Israel will have to readmit at least a token number; the majority will have to be absorbed in Arab countries through international development schemes which would make that possible; and some will move from the area to overseas countries where there are opportunities for them."

These are all good and reasonable suggestions which reflect much credit upon the prime minister.

But what a pity he didn't give this humane yet realistic assessment of the situation in the first place.

Hospital Progress

A LETTER FROM Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell explaining how the new south Vancouver Island-Gulf Islands hospital district is to be set up has left members of the capital regional district board uncertain in some respects. The points that perplex them, however, appear to be of less importance than those the minister has made amply clear.

What the board is now certain about is that under one name or another and with representation from the Gulf Islands it will have hospital construction as a responsibility, that votes on money bylaws will be district-wide (as they are in the school districts), that a 60 per cent majority will be required to pass a borrowing bylaw and that taxation will be based on assessments for school purposes.

The provision for district-wide voting, with only the overall count determining the results, is obviously necessary if the system is to function in a fair way —or perhaps, at all. Without this requirement it would be possible, and likely, that some municipalities or unorganized territories would in effect "opt out" of hospital construction programs, thereby throwing their share of the load on to the other parts of the district.

It may be a little surprising that in this particular field, the province has not decided that a simple majority should prevail in a money vote. Many municipal authorities lean now to the view that a simple majority should suffice in all capital bylaws, and the consequences of an adverse decision by the ratepayers on a hospital construction program are serious enough, one would think, to influence government thinking in this respect.

Mainly puzzling the regional board—until Mr. Campbell explains in more detail—is whether it will be one board or two when the hospital district is created: whether the two Gulf Islands representatives will be added to it as it is now constituted for the administration of joint services, or whether the same group will function, for hospital purposes, under another name. There is no reason, of course, why the Islands should not become part of the regional district but opt out of all its functions that do not interest them. On the other hand there may be technical reasons why the hospital district should be —on paper—a separate entity.

One board or two, incidentally, it wouldn't hurt if the "capital regional district" appellation were modified at this time in favor of something more meaningful and less of a mouthful.

Disappointment

VICTORIA HAS played host to several notables of high estate during this centennial year, but the visit this weekend of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco had been looked forward to with a special degree of interest.

The connotations of a tiny principality set amidst the modern complex of big-power politics and a princess who was screen-known to many as an actress of serene beauty and artistry, had invested their appearance here with unusual expectation.

Now unfortunately this regal visit has been cancelled. It is a cancellation that will be amply excused, however, in view of the nature of the indisposition that has come upon Princess Grace, and a recognition that in the circumstances the absence is inevitable.

Prince Rainier has sent his apologies for the upset in arrangements made here for their stay and expressed his concern for the dislocation of the plans made to welcome him and the lady who is the gracious chatelaine of Monaco. These of course are nothing compared to the health of his princess, and wishes will be general for her speedy and full recovery.

It does not seem likely that either Prince Rainier or Princess Grace will have a future opportunity to come here and so this enforced cancellation of their visit deprives the community of a pleasurable occasion. It will be up now to Victorians who holiday far afield to offset their disappointments by including Monaco in their touring schedules.

Portrait of a Conservative Delegate

Commonwealth Africa

Looking to Europe

By THOMAS LAND from London

BRITAIN'S second attempt to put its signature on the Treaty of Rome has considerably accelerated the movement in Commonwealth Africa to seek formal economic ties with the European Common Market.

In fact, Britain may find the majority of its African Commonwealth partners accepted in associate status by the European community by the time its own application is finally decided.

Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda agreed recently at their East African summit conference in Kampala to review their membership applications to the EEC. The new East African delegation, which is likely to be despatched to Brussels in the foreseeable future, is expected to be given this time a flexible mandate for negotiations in order to avoid last year's mistakes when the talks broke down.

* * *

A diplomat from Sierra Leone has assured me that "our membership application is very much on the cards." Nigeria, which became the first Commonwealth country to gain associate membership in the Common Market just one year ago, expects the terms of the agreement to be put into force soon.

Even Botswana (formerly Bechuanaland) which is one of the youngest and economically weakest members of the African Commonwealth, is inclined to consider association with Europe — especiaHy as it regards the possibility of Britain joining the EEC as a threat to its vital markets in this country.

The new attitudes with which Commonwealth Africa and the six members of the EEC regard each other make sense only when viewed in the light of developments in both associations.

* * *

One crucially important development in the Commonwealth has been the fall of the Nkrumah regime of Ghana, which had branded any discussion on African association with the EEC as an act of condoning neo-colonialism.

Today, the Ghana administration declines either to support or to rule out the idea of seeking association with Europe. Some believe, however, that a membership application is seriously considered in Accra.

Britain's first application to the EEC in 1961, and suspicions during the two ensuing years that it was prepared to sacrifice to a considerable extent the Commonwealth's trade interests in order to gain admission, have encouraged its partners to seek alternative ties.

The prolonged Rhodesia impasse has since eliminated what was left of the myth that the Commonwealth is an imperishable association. And recent crises of confidence in the pound sterling have allowed no doubt that the British economy needs doctoring.

* * *

Thus the African Commonwealth's response to the renewed British application is in sharp contrast with the apprehension voiced at the Prime Ministers' Conference in London in 1962. I heard the most critical comment from an African diplomat whose country stands to lose little from the current negotiations. The Commonwealth concept would be devalued further, he told me, if Britain failed to safeguard the interest of other nations less fortunate than his own.

The first British application and the subsequent veto by General de Gaulle of France in 1963 were indirectly responsible for Nigeria's association with the EEC.

Nigeria is the first associate member of the Market with no historical ties to the European Continent. Its population of 55 million approaches that of the 18 former European colonies in Africa which enjoy associate membership. Nigeria's success has been commonly regarded as the African Commonwealth's foot in Europe's door.

Associate membership for the 18 largely French-speaking African countries was agreed at the Yaounde (Cameroon) convention of 1962.

* * *

It provides for a free trade area and considerable capital and technical assistance shared out under a common authority. Membership in the group entails a certain amount of joint policy making under such common institutions as an association council of ministers, a parliamentary conference and an arbitration court.

Disagreement inside the EEC following the French veto on Britain's application prompted the remaining five European members of the Market to question the structure of the African association. Eventually they arrived at a formula whereby all African countries could apply without regard to the present policies of their former colonial masters.

* * *

Negotiations between Nigeria and the EEC took almost three years and culminated in an agreement less comprehensive than the Yaounde convention. Unlike the 18 other African EEC associates, Nigeria receives no development aid from Europe (nor has it asked for any). It has avoided some of the political ties of the association's common institutions. And it has accepted duty-free quotas on the country's most important exports, such as cocoa, timber, groundnut oil and palm products.

Nevertheless, the agreement is of considerable political importance. It will come up for revision in two years' time, when the Yaounde convention is also to be re-examined. It is widely believed that the 1969 conference will result in a single trade agreement extended to the 18 original associate members, Nigeria, and most of, if not all, the other Commonwealth members in Africa.

The meeting in Kampala last month of Presidents Kenyatta, Nyerere and Obote appeared to confirm such predictions.

Their deliberations were aimed at a common policy on international trade and the elimination of inter-state tariffs.

East Africa's negotiations with the EEC broke down last November because of its reluctance to provide tariff preferences to the Market. This time, as one African diplomat has put it, "We believe we will be able to find a formula acceptable to both sides."

Will China Relent?

Hong Kong's Water Shortage

By EDWARD NEILAN from Hong Kong

THE invitation card to a weekend cocktail party had a cryptic notation at the bottom: BYOW. In parantheses was the explanation — Bring Your Own Water.

Such attempts at humor are frequent as Hong Kong citizens gird themselves for a long hot summer of strict water rationing.

The new regulations went into effect July 13. They allow for the taps to be turned on in each household for only four hours every four days. In other words, there is no water in the taps for 92 of every 96 hours.

Special exceptions are made for industrial users of large amounts of water. But even they are rationed.

* * *

The restrictions are the same as those imposed during the drought of 1963 when tankers had to be employed to carry water to Hong Kong from Japan.

This year's water shortage adds another irritant to the local scene. Already nearly four million citizens jammed into the dense residential areas of the 398-square-mile colony have become anxious over prolonged disruptions by Communist agitators. Although the Communists have failed to marshal any public support, they have persisted in attempting to disrupt transport and intimidating workers.

The decision to ration water was taken because of rainfall that was less than normal and because Communist China has not answered requests for additional water supply.

* * *

Michael Wright, Hong Kong's director of public works, said that last November at a meeting with Communist Chinese authorities, arrangements were made for an additional 1,800 million gallons during the supply period of Oct. 1, 1966 to July 30, 1967.

"The Chinese also agreed to supply 62.5 million gallons of water a day during July, August and September on an emergency basis," Wright said. "Their only stipulation was that they be given a one-month notice of the requirement."

Wright said he has given China sufficient notice of Hong Kong's need.

"The only answer we have received from them was that they had not received their government authorization to supply the water."

Because of the current strained situation between Britain and China over Hong Kong, the only conclusion is that the Communists are refusing to supply more water for political reasons.

That this is creating ill will among the predominantly Chinese population of Hong Kong doesn't seem to bother the Communists.

* * *

The local Ta Kung Pao Communist newspaper has tried to blame the British government for the "poor planning" and claims it is the fault of the British authorities that Hong Kong people are suffering from a lack of water.

In practical terms, the water restrictions have caused a rush for buckets and drums to be used for storing water on "dry" days. Special arrangements have to be made in office buildings to supply water for coffee making.

Sellers of paper diapers report a brisk business. New automatic laundromat businesses recently opened have been hurt.

Provisions have been made to use saltwater for fire fighting and new buildings constructed use anti-corrosive materials in their pipes so that sea water may be used for flushing.

At least one joke left over from the last water shortage has gone by the boards. That concerned the stories that it was worthwhile travelling 40 miles to Portuguese Macao "just to take a bath."

But now Communist pressures and harassment in Macao have deterred people from going there even at the happy prospect of a bath.

The provision of an adequate water supply has always posed problems for Hong Kong. There are no large rivers or underground supplies. A rapidly increasing population and expanding industry have stepped up the requirement for water.

A catchment system leading to reservoirs is the main method for collecting water.

In 1963 a 5,300 million gallon reservoir at Shek Pik on Lan Tao island was brought into use. Water from it is pumped to Hong Kong island along eight miles of undersea pipeline.

Work is going ahead to convert a sea inlet at Plover Cove on the east coast of the New Territories into a fresh water lake having a storage capacity of 30,000 million gallons.

* * *

Hong Kong purchases up to 15,000 million gallons of water each year from Communist China which has a reservoir at Shum Chun across the Sino-British border. The Chinese government also has an extensive supply capability from the East River, also across the border.

In 1963, a drought also hit parts of Kwangtung province on the mainland, but this year there is no shortage of water in Communist China.

Hong Kong is ordinarily hit by one or two typhoons a year which bring considerable rain to the reservoirs. This year approaching typhoons have all veered away at the last moment.

Hong Kong authorities have imposed the restrictions now so that the reservoir storage will be adequate during the dry season in case there are no typhoons and in case the Chinese do not turn on the water Oct. 1, the start of a new year under the water agreement.

"I think there is a strong possibility the Chinese will turn on the water before too long," Wright said.

* * *

He also said that the British government had got in touch with Peking officially through its embassy in London to request additional water supplies.

Earlier, Hong Kong authorities had ruled out desalinization plants as a way of supplying water in large quantities.

At 'Peace' Conference

Hanoi's Stance Shakes Pacifists

By ROLAND HUNTER from Stockholm

DELEGATES from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to the recent World Conference on Vietnam took care to quench hopes of compromise and negotiation. They walked out of one meeting to force through a resolution accepting the Viet Cong as the sole representative of the South. They reiterated demands for the unconditional cessation of bombing and the withdrawal of American troops.

Few observers are willing to credit reports of a serious conciliatory approach described by a British delegate, Lord Brockway, the Labor politician. In fact, the harsh and uncompromising attitude of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives shocked many of the pacifists here.

* * *

Apparently the Russians were also disappointed. The conference was run by the World Peace Council, a Moscow "front" organization, at least partly as an attempt to win prestige by offering expectations of peace through their good offices. But it was an ambivalent affair, for the conference seemed concerned with exploiting Vietnam to attack the Americans quite as much as attacking the Americans to end the war in Vietnam.

With the cold war dormant, and even the Middle East squabble no competitor in emotional appeal, the Vietnam war remains the sole issue to engage the passions of those in search of a commitment on a grand scale. Probably no event since the Spanish Civil War has been so fruitful a source of political profits, and the Stockholm conference may have been the first serious Russian attempt to secure a fair share.

It had a curiously European atmosphere: Asia seemed an afterthought. The conference seemed to concentrate on anti-American feeling on the continent, doubtless with a view to influencing public opinion in a neutralist direction, and possibly eroding support for NATO.

* * *

The conference gave as its aim the mobilizing of public opinion for Vietnam, but Professor Gunnar Myrdal, the Swedish political economist may have expressed it more correctly in a speech to the conference on "the isolation of the United States". At all events, never before have Moscow "front" organizations managed to gather so many non-Communists under their patronage.

* * *

One of the conference decisions was to open a permanent bureau, probably in Stockholm, to collate information and act as a clearing house for ideas in the campaign against U.S. policy in Vietnam. There was talk of helping American deserters to find well-paid posts in the underdeveloped countries, and Algeria was mentioned as a willing host. Other proposals were the organization of boycotts of selected American products, and advertising campaigns to persuade U.S. citizens in Europe that their government was universally condemned abroad.

Many of the Western delegates seemed to believe that the American man in the street and his government would accept the rectitude of public opinion abroad, and react accordingly provided it was brought to their attention. It is doubtful if the Russian delegates subscribed to this point of view: among their number, and those of the Eastern European countries, there were specialists in political action.

Russian diplomats in Stockholm, and some Russian journalists covering the conference, gave an impression of lukewarm interest, but they would represent the Kosygin faction which is said to want accommodation with America at almost any price.

* * *

The conference also had its place in the Russian-Chinese schism: it was in part an attempt to counterbalance the Russell "Tribunal" on Vietnam, held in Stockholm two months before. The "tribunal" did steal the conference's thunder, if only by the names it boasted: the later event had nobody with reputations of Earl Russell, Jean-Paul Sartre and Simone de Beauvoir.

At least one objective of the conference seems to be unattainable: the reconciliation of the two chief factions supporting North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. The militants, who support the Russell "Tribunal" scorn the conference. Generally they are extreme left-wingers who want victory for the Viet Cong and defeat for the United States and no compromise. The conference, however, says it wants peace, even if this involves concessions by the north.

* * *

Unlike the "Tribunal", the tone of the conference was muted, for this event seemed more interested in winning anti-American friends than in making spectacular condemnations of the United States. At least this might explain the perfunctory interest shown by the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese: where they sent 50 or 60 representatives, many of importance, to the "Tribunal," they provided half a dozen for the conference, and none seemed of much account.

Washington Calling

The Sickness of the U.S. Cities

By MARQUIS CHILDS

A BAND-AID on a cancer. In the rare moments when he allows himself the luxury of despair, that is how Vice-President Hubert Humphrey describes the American administration's urban development program.

As one city after another—Newark, Buffalo, Tampa—blows up in riots, a sense of helplessness prevails. No one can predict where it will break out next. But almost every city in the country is vulnerable as the discontents fester in the hard core of the Negro ghettos among the jobless, the reckless, the criminal, the drug addicts, the isolated and the deeply disaffected who feel they have nothing to lose by pulling down the whole structure of law and order.

At the same time, the white middle class is more and more antagonized, resistant to any change. With economy as a corollary of a tax increase, together with the rising cost of the Vietnam war, the money for city programs gets pared down. Humphrey's is almost the only voice still raised to say that only a massive dramatic program capturing the imagination of the public can begin to cure the sickness of the cities.

The vice-president has spent a lot of time seeing at first hand the slums that spawn revolt. In Cleveland he walked through the Hough district with only an aide or two accompanying him, although he had been solemnly warned that he should not go without a police escort fore and aft.

Recently he became concerned over the fate of Lawndale, a community in Chicago of about 18,000 families. It was once fairly well balanced between blacks and whites, with a sense of community identity making for coherence and stability. Some 801 business firms large and small, were part of the community.

* * *

Today Lawndale is almost entirely black. The white families have moved to the suburbs. Along with the whites have gone most of the business firms. The three or four remaining, including Sears Roebuck, by far the biggest, would like to stay. But the steady deterioration of the environment must be checked if they are to continue to operate.

The other day executives of the firms that have stayed came to put a plan before Humphrey. At present Lawndale has one high school, one park and no hospital, although a hospital is under construction. Their plan calls for a related system of parks and recreation areas to give the community green and open spaces that would relieve the drab monotony of rundown streets. New and modern schools would be built. Shopping malls would replace dreary store fronts.

* * *

It is an exciting and imaginative plan. There was just one big catch: The public cost, leaving out the private investment the firms remaining in Lawndale would put into new plants and office, is $240 million.

The president asked for $400 million for the current fiscal year, plus $75 million for urban renewal. The Senate may go higher, and the conference committee may in the end come closer to the amount the White House wants, but it will still be only a drop in the vast bucket of need.

There are 50—a hundred—Lawndales in the country. Each one is in effect a prison completely isolated from the white communities around it. Each one could absorb the total sum likely to come out of Congress for making over the cities.

Newark is the worst uprising thus far. But it will not be the last, and it may not stand as the record before the summer ends. Unquestionably, news of looting in one ghetto helps to trigger explosions elsewhere, and especially when this is followed by word of reforms adopted in the wake of the disaster.

That is the word that Humphrey carries as he moves about the United States. If you wait until trouble strikes, it is too late. Then, on top of the destruction you have the hatred and the alienation and you must begin to do what you should have been doing all along.

Plans there are aplenty. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has put forward a suggestion for rehabilitating 400,000 slum units and bringing new industry into the ghetto. Sen. Charles Percy has a plan to draw private business into low-cost housing, with a variety of government incentives, to make over the slums.

But plans are of little value if the Congress will not appropriate the money and if local communites are not aware of the desperate need for action.

Sportsman's Feats Almost Legendary

Colonist PROFILES

By GORDE HUNTER

His well-muscled body is ramrod straight at 170 pounds and the usual gait is just under a gallop. He's keen-eyed and the absence of wrinkles will throw anyone off on a bad age guess. Up until two years ago he refereed seven minor lacrosse games a week and in that game, man, a referee has to be in shape.

The book on Doug Fletcher says he's 75 years old — a fact casual acquaintances have troubled digesting without a grain of salt. But the age is true enough and there is a strong suspicion that somewhere along the line Doug got visiting rights to the fountain of youth.

... NOBODY, BUT NOBODY, HAS WORKED HARDER FOR THE YOUNGSTERS OF OUR AREA IN THE SPORTS OF LACROSSE AND HOCKEY...
HE TAUGHT MY DAD HOW TO PLAY TOO!
DOUG FLETCHER
MR. LACROSSE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Versatile Man

From the moment he arrived here from England in 1911, Mr. Fletcher has been either a participant, an official or an organizer in every available sport.

In soccer he was a centre forward and usually the highest scorer on whatever club he played for. He was a crackerjack of a cricket batsman and played against Australia in 1913. But the feat he remembers most in cricket happened in a game against Vancouver. He scored 138 runs and if you're a cricket buff, you know this is out of the ordinary.

Softball Impact

Softball felt his impact as well. He was a star pitcher and played on many city championship squads. He was a good golfer (two holes-in-one), held the presidency of the Uplands Club for many years and was honored with a life membership in that club in 1942.

And strangely enough, he never competed in the two games that have made him a living legend here on the Island — lacrosse and hockey. Yet no man in Victoria has served these sports as well or as devotedly.

Work Factor

"I never played either game, but I liked them and I guess somebody had to do the work."

As a matter of fact, Doug, who was a butcher by trade and who owned meat markets in the Fairfield area, retired from business in 1941 in order to dedicate himself to minor hockey and lacrosse.

"I guess you could say I went to work when I retired," he quips, but the quip contains more truth than fiction.

Lacrosse Chief

In lacrosse he has been president of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association for 26 years, and during that time 35 championships have found their way to the city. Most of the teams were coached by Doug. On today's Shamrock team Doug is the president) there are only four players who didn't get their starts with him in peewee competition.

"I guess my greatest thrill came when I managed the junior Shamrocks when they won the Minto Cup in 1958."

Not So Easy

I asked him how he, along with other lacrosse fanatics, managed to keep top-calibre senior competition alive here.

"This year our crowds have been excellent, but it hasn't been as easy in the past. We've held car raffles, $10-a-plate dinners — any method we could find to raise money. And remember, our transportation costs are three times greater than any other club in the league."

The hockey workload has been just as heavy. He formed the Victoria Minor Hockey Association in 1942 and was that body's president for 16 consecutive years. The group finally made him a life member in 1952.

"When Memorial Arena first opened I was down at the rink five mornings a week at six o'clock coaching and looking after the youngsters."

Life Member

Thankfully, Mr. Fletcher's work has not gone unnoticed in Victoria. He was awarded the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy in 1951 as the outstanding person in amateur sport in our area and in 1964 was presented with the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association's Diamond Stick award. He was named Victoria's Good Citizen in 1963.

On the other side of the coin, the myopic selectors charged with the nominations to the B.C. Hall of Fame, have not as yet seen fit to include him, and this is a sore point with many men in Victoria, who feel Doug's athletic accomplishments should have been so recognized at the inception of the Hall.

A heart attack slowed him down two years ago, yet today he is working as hard as ever. I inquired if he did indeed have visiting rights at some secret fountain of youth.

"I've only smoked one cigarette in my life and I rarely have a drink. And my wife (Ethel Maude) is a very good cook — a great believer in plenty of fresh green vegetables. We stay away from canned food and vegetables as much as possible. I like medium done steaks and we've never believed in drugs."

Walking is another Fletcher habit and he manages three or four miles every morning. He gave up golf a few years back, but when he was playing it was nothing for him to go 54 holes every Sunday.

Is there any chance he intends slowing down in the near future?

"I think I'll retire from minor lacrosse at the end of this year," he says.

But then, Doug Fletcher retired from all sport activity back in 1951. That retirement lasted less than a year.

In other words, don't hold your breath waiting for the retirement to become official.

New War Minister Named by Nasser As Austerity Near

From UPI

Egyptian President Nasser has named a new war minister, the second since last month's Israeli war, and is preparing to announcing tough new austerity measures.

Amin Huweid, a state minister, replaced Abdul Wahab Elbishri, who had taken over from Shams Badrans after the Arab defeat. Badrans had resigned.

The shakeup came as diplomatic reports in London said Nasser's position as leader of the Arab world hung in the balance.

Egyptians faced an austerity budget to pay for the losses of the war and its aftermath and a massive Soviet-assisted rearmament program.

The semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said a revised budget would be the main subject under discussion during weekend cabinet talks.

★ ★ ★

Nasser is expected to announce the austerity measures during a speech at Cairo University Sunday marking the 15th anniversary of the Egyptian revolution.

Al Abram said military spending in the revised budget would be increased. Large cuts would be made to meet losses caused by closure of the Suez Canal and the halt in tourist trade, it said.

Evidence of dissatisfaction with Nasser came in a speech by Sudanese opposition leader Saddick El Mahdi, who voiced "reservations" about Nasser and called for the urgent replacement of "old regimes and leaderships."

★ ★ ★

The new Egyptian war minister was ambassador in Baghdad in September, 1964, when Iraqi air force Gen. Aref Abdel Razzak led an abortive pro-Egyptian coup against President Aref.

Huweid was recalled to Cairo. It was never established whether this was at Iraq's request.

Nasser and Aref were formerly openly antagonistic but, recently, they appear to have submerged their differences in the common stand against Israel.

The outgoing war minister, Elbishri, retained the portfolio of minister of military production. Cairo radio gave no further details of the reshuffle.

★ ★ ★

In Jerusalem, Israeli officials said plans are being considered to put some of the thousands of unemployed Arab refugees in the Gaza Strip to work in extracting manganese deposits from the Sinai Desert captured from Egypt.

The International Red Cross repatriated 46 wounded Egyptian soldiers. Red Cross representative Laurence Martin said there was little chance for the return of 30 Israeli soldiers and civilians held by Egypt.

Other Mideast developments:

● Iraqi Defence Minister Shakar Mahmoud Shukry headed toward Moscow for discussion of military aid.

● A Kuwaiti mission was also en route to Moscow for two weeks of talks on "technical co-operation in the oil sphere."

● France announced its decision to open an embassy in Kuwait.

● Palestine Liberation Organization leader Ahmed Shukeiry was quoted in Beirut as saying "the world will soon witness the rise of a new Viet Cong" — the result of merger between the PLO and Palestine terror groups.

Egypt's Jet Planes Halfway Replaced

JERUSALEM — Israeli intelligence officials say Egypt has replaced at least half of the more than 400 planes it lost in last month's six-day war.

They said the replacements include a few of the latest MiG 23 all-weather interceptors as well as the more commonly used MiG 21s, Sukhoi ground attack fighters and TU 16 bombers.

Other Soviet gifts reportedly included advanced T 55 tanks equipped with night guidance equipment.

'Europe Doesn't Fear America'

Let Britain Join Market, Germany Tells France

BONN — West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger took off the diplomatic gloves and engaged in sharply worded argument with French President Charles de Gaulle last week over the role that Britain and the United States should play in Europe, it was learned Friday.

Authoritative sources said Kiesinger told de Gaulle to get used to the idea of British entry into the European Common Market, because, he said, most Europeans wanted it that way.

The German chancellor challenged de Gaulle's desire to make Europe more independent of the U.S. and told him the European states would carry no political weight if they failed to consult with each other in major crises, as de Gaulle had failed to do during the Middle East War.

The sources said the two men spoke bluntly, without regard for diplomatic niceties. Their two-day conference in Bonn was held under an agreement pledging the leaders of both countries to meet occasionally and co-ordinate their views. De Gaulle broke diplomatic custom after the final session, and had an aide give the press a verbatim account of his remarks.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle was quoted as warning Kiesinger their countries should stick together to prevent domination of Europe by the U.S., which he described as hungry for more power. The French president said Britain would have to be kept out of the Common Market because of its close ties with the U.S.

The Bonn sources said Kiesinger told de Gaulle most of the people in the six Common Market nations wanted Britain to join them, and de Gaulle would have to accept this fact. The German leader said he would continue to do his best to help Britain get into the Market.

★ ★ ★

Kiesinger also challenged de Gaulle's fears of American domination. The sources said he told de Gaulle European security depended on the alliance with the U.S.

The German chancellor warned de Gaulle Europe would not be politically strong if it did not co-ordinate the policies of its member nations during big crises like the Middle East war.

★ ★ ★

He pointed out the Common Market nations never even discussed a joint policy toward that crisis. Even though de Gaulle had met twice with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Stalin's Grandson Angry with Mom

MOSCOW—Stalin's grandson, Josef Alliluyev, has strongly condemned his mother Svetlana for her defection to the U.S.

He attributed her defection to "instability of character," and said he did not miss his mother. He called her published denigration of her second husband "indecent."

Josef, a medical student, said he and his sister Ekaterina wrote to their mother last spring and denounced her action.

★ ★ ★

They have had no contact with their mother except for a phone call from Switzerland last spring. Svetlana said then, and later publicly, her children agreed with her "in their hearts" no matter what they announced.

"We do not agree at all," said Josef. "I can see absolutely no reason for her abandoning us. I cannot quite understand why she did it and I cannot approve what she did."

Indians Protest 'Hero' Custer TV Series

LOS ANGELES (LAT) — A national Indian group Friday asked the ABC television network to scrap a TV series on Gen. George Custer scheduled for release this fall.

"Gen Custer was a madman, the Indian's worst enemy," said A. A. Hopkins-Dukes, director of the Tribal Indian Land Rights Association. "Glamorizing Custer is like glamorizing Billy the Kid," he said.

Hopkins-Dukes, an ex-Marine and Kiowa Indian said TILRA plans to petition the federal courts for an injunction restraining the series.

"We are lodging a complaint to ABC, petitioning sponsors of the series to boycott it," he said.

"We hope the nation's 600,000 Indians and all persons interested in the welfare of Indians will protest the Custer series."

Hopkins-Dukes contends that Gen. Custer endorsed a policy of genocide and massacred village after village of Indians.

"We think it's about time a true picture of the American Indian be portrayed on the American film and TV screen. The industry continues to build its unrealistic image of my people because of the phenomenal success of cowboy vs. Indian films."

Hopkins-Dukes said thousands upon thousands of letters have been sent to Hollywood over the years by Indians protesting the "bad guy" image. But all the protests have wound up in the wastebaskets.

"This Custer thing is the last straw," he said.

Custer and a force of 263 attacked an Indian village in Montana in 1876 and died in one of the worst defeats ever suffered by the U.S. Army.

Lacks Nothing

Miss Sunshine Bathes In Success

By BILL THOMAS

The rich, golden glow of success beams on Little Mary Sunshine. This delightful spoof on the vintage era of musical comedy opened Friday at the McPherson Playhouse and is a personal triumph for Vanessa Lax in the title role.

Miss Lax does the lot. She sings, hams, dances and gets over every last ounce of business.

Her leading man, Ross Petty, shows us all where the yellow went with his massive smile. Mr. Petty stands tall as Captain 'Big Jim' Warrington of the RCMP.

But when they start handing out the bouquets then John Heath has to take an armful. He stopped the show as Fleet Foot the senile Indian guide.

FIRST RATE

The multi-talented Mr. Heath also designed the show and assisted in the direction. This was a first-rate performance.

Ian McIntyre runs John Heath a tight second for the pure comedy honors. He plays Corporal Billy Jester, a most reluctant hero. His numbers with Chief Brown Bear, played by Dan Christian, are a riot. The Indian initiation scene is a dilly.

WHO KNOWS?

Why this show needs a French maid is anyone's guess but if it does then who could have guessed better than director Peter Hammering in selecting Nancy Watt. She comes up with a wild Mata Hari routine that sets the girls from the Halifax Finishing School to giggling.

HIS CHOICE

The music is good and the sets up to par but there are a few problems that will probably be solved in the course of the run to Aug. 12.

Peter Mannering has a choice. He can either cut some bits out of the second half or really tighten the show.

Peggy Walton Packard as a retired opera singer, Mme. Ernestine von Liebedich, is fine when she is singing but she is inaudible. Her best number is a duet with Little Mary.

Marge Adelberg worked wonders in the pit pushing hard to sustain the pace.

NONE WEAK

There are no weak sisters in this show. Even the minor roles get the value they deserve.

Glen MacDonald gets in some artful dodging as the dreaded Yellow Feather and also doubles as a Mountie in his spare time.

The chorus numbers are carried well and should get even better as time goes along.

HER SUCCESS

Still all in all it is Vanessa Lax who must get the credit for this success.

Time and again she saves the day by her ability to deliver her material with superb timing.

She is a brilliant comedienne who can also sing well. Her songs with Big Jim are excellent.

This Rick Besoyan musical comedy is a must for anyone suffering from the summer blues. It is easily the best show value in town at this time. The first night audience loved it and so will all the others.

Big Red Is Here

Ilyushin-62, making its first appearance in North America, arrived in Montreal Friday on direct flight from Moscow. Aeroflot plane, soon to link Montreal with Moscow, landed at Montreal airport nine hours and 34 minutes after leaving Moscow on test flight. It cruises at between 528 and 560 miles per hour, between 33,000 and 42,000 feet. It has 150-passenger capacity.—(CP)

Boards Life Savers

A little bit of Waikiki has been adopted by Saanich—and it's a lifesaving idea.

At Elk and Beaver Lake beaches, lifeguards now have special, long surfboards of the same type that's used off the famed Honolulu resort.

★ ★ ★

Bert Richman, parks superintendent, said they are so large that a stricken swimmer can be placed on top of them and whisked ashore for resuscitation.

Garbage Problem 'Growing'

Incineration the Answer Saanich Councillor Says

Coun. William Noel said Friday night he warned Saanich council of the garbage menace five months ago but did not hear anything further on it until this week.

"I made a motion that the garbage be incinerated on a regional basis, then it seemed to be dropped," he said.

Coun. Boel said Greater Victoria is going to have to face up to garbage disposal sooner or later. It cannot go on forever covering acre after acre with the stuff.

SEVERAL IDEAS

(Municipal engineers of the Greater Victoria area, along with public health officials, have been looking at garbage disposal problems for some time and have offered several proposals.)

"Incineration is the only answer that I know of," he explained. "We do not have the soil types for satisfactory sanitary land fill."

Sanitary land fill is a method of garbage disposal that's most effective on the Prairies or desert country. It involves layers of garbage separated by layers of soil.

st effective on the Prairies or desert country. It involves layers of garbage separated by layers of soil.

Coun. Noel is trying to get information on an incineration system working at Hull, England, which has a population of 300,000.

He said there should be no smoke problem if the combustion was controlled.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said Friday he is in the process of reactivating the garbage disposal topic at the intermunicipal level.

"In the last part of the 20th Century, for municipalities to condone carting garbage into the hills and leaving it is absolutely absurd," he said.

However, it was something for the regional board or an intermunicipal group because the Hartland Road dump, object of recent criticism, is used by both Saanich and the city.

The comment was precipitated by the Saanich Action Committee, which this week decided to ask local councils to investigate alternative methods of garbage and sewage disposal.

Exams Passed

Four students from the Helen Green studios here have passed the speech arts examinations set by Trinity College of London, England. They are Cathie Masters, Grade 7; Denise Wood and Blake Carter, Grade 5, and Peter Allen, Grade 3.

The Hon. John Gilbey arrives home from another international tour

England welcomes home the Hon. John Gilbey

Arriving home after another International Tour, the Hon. John Gilbey remarks on the excellent standards of Gilbey's London Dry in Canada. And Gilbey's International Quality Controller announces that he will now compare the English Gilbey's with its overseas brother:

"My gin has been the best gin in the world for no less than 110 years," says the Hon. John Gilbey. "In Canada, for example, I have found that Gilbey's London Dry perfectly matches the original English standard. So now I intend to compare our English product with it."

Next time you see Gilbey's famous frosty bottle, remember the Hon. John Gilbey and his job as Gilbey's International Quality Controller. When you see the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks, bear in mind his proud words: "This is my gin! For no less than 110 years it has carried my family's name. Gilbey's London Dry is the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks. And I shall make sure it stays that way."

British Jobless Show Big Rise

LONDON (AP)—British jobless this month reached the highest total for July since 1940, the ministry of labor announced. The total was 496,372 —2.1 per cent of the working population — which was 2,439 fewer than June.

Due to Mideast Snag

Oil Exploration Quickens

By Harry YOUNG
Business Editor

There's no shortage of oil in the world but, as the Petroleum Press Service of London says, too much of it lies in the politically unstable countries.

In 1960, after the Suez crisis, Europe took 79 per cent of its oil from the Mid east countries. By 1966 this had shrunk to 58 per cent, but most of the new oil was also from the unpredictable Arab countries in northern Africa.

The magazine says the latest trouble in the Middle East is causing not only European oil consumers but also Japan to look elsewhere for their oil.

It is described as "cause for anxiety."

As a result the search for oil in other parts of the world is intensifying.

The British action in the North Sea is being stepped up sharply; Indonesia looks promising and there is promise of oil in Thailand and Malaysia.

In North America the big hope is Canada, which already has productive capicity of 300,000 barrels a day beyond its market. This could quickly be raised to 1,000,000 barrels a day.

Ever since the vast Rainbow Lake field in northern Alberta was first discovered less than two years ago, the only thing that has been holding the developers back has been the uncertainty of finding a market.

If the swing is away from the Middle East, new hope will exist not only for Rainbow, but for the Athabaska tar sands — about to come into production — and many other semi-developed oil areas of western Canada.

It is the Israeli-Arab war aftermath which has taken the western oil index on Toronto Stock Exchange to new highs, and which has brought spectacular advances in the shares of many exploration and development oil companies.

A current example is Central Del Rio, which is said to be siting tight on an announcement of another big well in the Rainbow area, which it shares with Banff and Aquitaine.

City Golfer Wins Canadian Seniors

HALIFAX (CP)—George B. Bigelow of Victoria fired a three-over-par 70 Friday to win the Canadian senior golf championship with a 54-hole total of 208.

The 57-year-old physician who pulled into the lead on the first hole of the three-day tournament and never lost it, shot 69s on the first two rounds and finished with a three stroke lead over runner-up Jack Nash of London, Ont.

Third place went to defending champion Jack Littler of Port Credit, Ont., who had a three-round total of 212, after firing a one-under-par 66 Friday, the lowest score of the competition.

"This is one of the most satisfying moments of my career," Bigelow said after being presented with the Rankin Memorial Trophy.

"I had a lot of hot Ontario and Quebec golfers breathing down my neck in this tournament."

THIRD TRY LUCKY

It was the third crack at the senior title for Bigelow, Pacific northwest senior champion, who has been playing golf more than 50 years. He was runner-up to Littler last year at Brantford, Ont.

Bigelow shot a par 33 on the front nine of the 5,322-yard Ashburn Golf Club course and came home in 38, ending his game with a birdie on the par-4 18th.

BEST SHOT OF DAY

"That was the best shot I made today," he said after his 15-foot putt dropped into the cup.

Nash, at 55 playing in his first senior tournament, equalled Bigelow's par 33 going out, but blew to a 38 on the home nine for a 71 and a three-round 211. He was trailing the leader by two strokes after 36 holes.

Littler, a 59-year-old Toronto stock broker, carded a pair of 33s to take third spot, breaking away from a fourth-place tie with Don Anderson of St. Thomas, Ont.

TIE FOR FOURTH

Romeo Trudeau and Gordon B. Taylor, both of Montreal turned in 72s to finish the tournament in a fourth-place tie with 215, seven off the pace. Phil Farley of Toronto, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, was fifth with rounds of 72, 75 and 71 for a 218.

The strong combination of Nash, Littler, Farley and Hevenor retained the senior team title for Ontario with an aggregate gross score of 861.

Vancouver Club Ousts Saanich

Victoria's last hope for a B.C. Babe Ruth championship this year ended when Vancouver Inter-Community dumped Saanich Evening Optimists, 4-0, Friday at Royal Athletic Park.

In the other game, Coquitlam advanced to Sunday's finals by defeating defending champion Trail, 2-1.

Saanich, which had eliminated Victoria All-Stars, 21-0, Wednesday, could only manage two hits off winning pitcher Jim Rentmeester.

Rentmeester, who allowed only three walks while striking out 12, gave up all of the walks after two were out in the second inning to load the bases.

He ended the threat by striking out rival pitcher Doug Curran of Saanich and pitched steadily the rest of the game.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Singles by Alex McKay and Gord McGregor and a walk to Brian Wilson with one out in the third inning loaded the bases for Vancouver.

Graham Whitehead attempted a bunt which Curran fielded with plenty of time to get McKay at home but threw wide to catcher Doug Lang and two runs scored.

Wilson and Whitehead then scored on a bunt single by Kirk Duncan and Clayton Collins' infield out.

Curran and Mike Horan were the only Saanich batters to get a hit.

SCORES ON ERRORS

Catcher Ernie Schleppe gave Trail a 1-0 lead in the third inning of the evening game, scoring on two throwing errors by Coquitlam shortstip Alan Collins.

Coquitlam bunched three of their hits off loser Don Mainland into a two-run sixth inning to win the game.

John Mickey and Collins singled and moved to second and third before Ted Strogel hit a long double to left-centre field to drive in both runs.

Winner Marty Carey struck out Bernie Hughes with runners on second and third in the top of the seventh to preserve the lead.

Today, Trail plays Fraserview at 2 p.m. with the winner meeting Inter-Community at 6 p.m. The winner of the evening game advances to the finals on Sunday when they must win twice to take the championship.

On the 36th hole both players hit their drives within six feet of each other and went right to the green in three. Miss Hitchens putted to within two feet of the hole but missed the short putt for a bogey six. Miss Brown went down in par.

Centennial Rifle Titles At Stake Here Sunday

The main question at Sunday's Canadian Centennial high power rifle championships probably won't be who will win, but which rifle be used, sporting or military.

Both rifles are being used for the first time in a Vancouver Island competition.

Five trophies and five other awards will be shot for by contestants from Victoria, Cowichan, Washington State, Vancouver, Powell River, Campbell River, Nanaimo and Fraser Valley.

The meet takes place at Heal's Range on West Saanich Road starting at 9 a.m. with each man having 50 shots in the match.

Top overall marksman receives The Daily Colonist trophy while the Navy Cup goes to the best military scorer and the Daily Times trophy to the best sporting rifle score.

Top aggregate scorer also receives the Greater Victoria Centennial Society cup and the top four-man team will receive a trophy donated by the B.C. Centennial Celebrations Association.

The meet is jointly sponsored by the Victoria and District Rifle Association and the Vancouver Island Shooting League.

Canada Picked for Second In Pan-Am Games Forecast

McCredie

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada will field the largest and strongest international team she has ever assembled when the fifth Pan-American Games get under way here Monday.

Among her big guns will be sprinter Harry Jerome of Vancouver, world record-holder in the 100 metres, and Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., one of the world's top middle-distance men.

HOSPITAL TREATMENT

Shot putter Nancy McCredie of Brampton, Ont., is throwing better than ever.

The 5-foot-10, 142 pound, Miss McCredie was taken to hospital Friday with a recurring knee problem and is receiving treatment from an orthopedic specialist. There was no indication that the trouble would force her withdrawal.

In swimming, Elaine Tanner of Vancouver is turning in world times in workouts and is being pressed by Marilyn Corson, the Parry Sound, Ont., butterfly threat who commutes from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., who won eight medals in eight events at the British Empire Games in Jamaica last year, is swimming workouts in times better than his previous competition best.

OUTWEIGH U.S.

And Canada, with 438 people wearing her colors, will have the largest contingent in the Games — outweighing the 390 United States athletes and the 279 from Mexico. Cuba checked in with 227.

By the time the opening ceremonies are held Sunday, there will be 2,400 athletes on hand. Thirty countries will be represented, 28 of them actively.

The U.S. swept the 1963 Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, picking up 169 gold medals, 55 second-place silvers and 37 bronze.

BRAZIL WAS SECOND

The host country came second with 14 golds, 20 silvers and 18 bronzes.

Canada totalled more medals than Brazil, but only 10 of them were gold—the breakdown was 10-26-27—and came third.

Looking at the 1967 U.S. team —powerful even without some of its top distance and sprint stars —the consensus is that the U.S. must again sweep the Pan-American games.

The question is, how will the others stack up?

BETTING FOR SECOND

The betting locally is that Canada will come second.

The Canadian swimmers, who made inroads into Australian, New Zealand and British domination of the 1966 B.E. games, will be against a tough U.S. team led by Don Schollander, winner of four gold medals at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Every member of the U.S. team has turned in faster times than any recorded by U.S. swimmers at Tokyo.

PRACTICE TIMES GOOD

Canadian swimmers, many of them from the West Coast and unused to the heat which hovered in the mid-90s here for days, are turning in practice times described by coach Bob Eynon of London, Ont., as "extremely good."

"Tanner and Marion Lay, a Vancouver-born girl living in Covina, Calif., are swimming extremely well."

Mary Pat Pumfrey of Victoria has a strained muscle in the right knee, but Eynon says "it's coming around. Knee troubles are chronic with breaststrokers."

Like the swim team, the Canadian track and field contingent could be dominated by the girls.

Miss McCredie, entered in the shot put, was the 1963 gold medallist in shot put and discus; Abby Hoffman of Toronto is the defending champion in the 800 metres.

Jenny Wingeraon Meldrum of Toronto is a threat in the 80-metre hurdles, in which she took a silver at Sao Paulo.

STRONG IN ROWING

Canada is also strong in rowing, a division in which she is defending champion in the eights. The U.S. is regarded as unbeatable in the eights this year but Canada has a strong team across the board.

Canada has one of the largest teams in weightlifting, but is in against top competition from Latin-America.

In men's volleyball, Canada's team has shown well in exhibition games.

CUBA, U.S. FAVORED

Cuba and the U.S. are expected to give her trouble in the shooting competitions.

Judo is a sport where Canadian organizers are forecasting medals from heavyweight Doug Rogers of Vancouver and young Pat Bolger of Dutton, Ont. Bolger is entered in both judo and wrestling.

Golf Scoreboard Ready Here

All ready for next month's Commonwealth Golf Tournament at the Victoria Golf Club is this 42-foot scoreboard topped by the flags of the five competing nations — Canada, Britain, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, in that order. The board was designed by club member Don Wagg and construction and decorating work was arranged by George Farmer and Howard McKay as donations to the tourney. Flag raising ceremonies will take place Aug. 7 and the competition opens on Aug. 8. —(William E. John)

Tommy Aaron Leads by Four

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Title-starved Tommy Aaron, without a victory in seven years as a pro, exploded nine birdies—eight of them in the space of 10 holes—and somersaulted over golf's glamor boys into a four-stroke lead Friday at the halfway point of the PGA championship.

Aaron also had a phenomenal string of ten 3s, five in a row, on his card in shooting a course record 65 for a 36-hole score of 135.

FADE IN HEAT

As both dark-horse Dave Hill, the first round leader, and favorite Jack Nicklaus faded in the sweltering 90-degree heat, Aaron leaped four shots ahead of a trio including Hill, Dan Sikes and long-shot Don Bies, a 29-year-old assistant teaching pro from Seattle, tied at 139.

The borrowed, white-headed putter that carried him to the U.S. Open crown last month, deserted Nicklaus, whose opening 67 had put him only a shot back of Hill's pace setting 66.

Jack three-putted the first hole from 15 feet, missed a number of other putts for pars and birdies and finished with a three-over-par 75 for 142.

SEVEN OFF PACE

That put him seven strokes back of the lead going into the final two rounds today and Sunday.

Arnold Palmer, who is bidding for the PGA crown he's never won, remained in contention with a 71 for 141.

Sikes almost collapsed at the 13th hole, and emergency oxygen was rushed to him. He recovered enough to birdie the 14th and 17th and finished with a 70, but he had to receiv additional treatment in the men's locker room.

Doug Sanders had to knock in a hole-in-one with a four-iron on the 194-yard 16th and finished with 143.

Bies shot a steady 70, including three birdies, before the 7,436 yard, par 72 Columbine course was drenched with sizzling 90-degree heat and sapping humidity.

Hill finished with a 73.

Outside of the leaders—Aaron at 135, nine under par; Bies, Sikes and Hill, at 139, five under; Palmer at 141, three under, and Nicklaus at 142, two under—no one else was in a threatening position.

Ferguson, Gandy To Canadian Junior

Two young city golfers, Cec Ferguson of Gorge Vale and Brian Gandy of Cedar Hill will represent B.C. in the Canadian junior golf championships in Toronto starting Aug. 23.

Ferguson was named to the B.C. team along with Doug Roxburgh of Vancouver Marine Drive, Tom Moryson of Haney Pitt Meadows club, and Doug Stewart of Marine Drive, the 1967 B.C. junior champ.

Gandy and Ross Johnson of Pitt Meadows were named by officials to receive special invitations from the host Toronto Golf and Country Club.

Mark Mitchell of Vancouver Shaughnessy was named alternate to the team and Les Milne was appointed non-playing team captain.

Moryson and Stewart were members of the 1966 team.

All Sides Hid in Israeli Y

During the fighting in Jerusalem, 65 Arabs, Jews and Christians took refuge in the air raid shelter of the YMCA in the Israeli section of the city, according to word received this week by J. A. McConnell, executive director of the Victoria YM-YWCA.

"The Jerusalem, Israel association has always been regarded as neutral territory, where the political tensions of everyday existence may be put aside, at least temporarily, and this latest crisis was no exception," he said.

"Mortar shells landed along the southern part of the building, on the tennis courts, and close enough to break more than 100 windows, but the 65 people escaped injury."

Not so fortunate was the YMCA building in the former Jordanian section of the city.

* * *

"It is located almost opposite the Mandelbaum Gate, and was between two heavy lines of fire," McConnell reported.

"A good many shells hit the building, nearly every window was broken, several walls were severely damaged and the furnishings, most of which had been made by refugee boys at the YMCA vocational training school in Jericho, were looted."

He said early estimates indicate the cost of restoring this facility will be $100,000.

Mr. McConnell said the Victoria Association, through its annual World Service program, assists YMCAs in 19 cities in the Middle East, including those on both sides of the former dividing line in Jerusalem. Six YMCA staff directors from North America, serving in the Middle East, were also reported safe, although the families of those living in Arab countries had to be evacuated to Athens or Istanbul.

The UN truce supervision organization, under the direction of Gen. Odd Bull, moved into the Jerusalem YMCA June 14 and established a temporary Government House, the permanent headquarters, was captured during the fighting, first by the Jordanian army and then by the Israelis. UNTSO personnel now centred at the Y represent 17 different nationalalities.

The 153-foot Jesus Tower of the building, called by many "the most beautiful YMCA in the world," is visited annually by thousands of tourists for its excellent view of the city and for its architecture.

"Because of its height and strategic location, it might have been used for military purposes on numerous occasions," McConnell said.

"Instead, it has always been respected by both sides as non-involved property. Whenever trouble erupted along the no-man's land which separated Jordan from Israel (as it has dozens of times in the last 20 years) the entrance to the tower was immediately sealed off, and the tower has never been intentionally fired on, nor fired from."

Chiselled on the gallery wall at the top of the tower, which has quotations from the Old Testament, the New Testament and the Koran, is this inscription from Isaiah: "Thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation."

De Gaulle Will Hear Mass as a Pilgrim

QUEBEC (CP)—President de Gaulle will hear mass as a pilgrim when he visits the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre Sunday.

The Catholic mass for the 10th Sunday after Pentecost normally revolves around the Biblical quotation "He who exalts himself will be humbled and he who humbles himself will be exalted.".

But the Redemptorist fathers who run the shrine decided on a mass in honor of Ste. Anne, which will involve the quotation "Learn from Me and I am meek and humble of heart."

Officials denied the change was made to avoid embarrassment to de Gaulle. They said the fathers consider the visit a pilgrimage.

In Ottawa, defence headquarters denied the destroyers Skeena and Terra Nova, escorting de Gaulle's two-ship French flotilla from St. Pierre and Miquelon to Quebec, are under French command. They reach Wolfe's Cove Sunday morning.

The state visits office said so but a defence official said it's merely a "courtesy escort." The destroyers gave de Gaulle a 21-gun salute Friday evening when he entered Canadian waters and the French cruiser Colbert replied with an 11-gun salute.

Queen Mother Fascinated By Helicopter

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth dropped in for a surprise visit to the Canadian destroyer Annapolis Friday and spent most of her time plying a young Canadian lieutenant with questions about destroyer's helicopter.

The visit, a departure from the Queen Mother's official schedule, came after she attended a provincial government luncheon at Memorial University.

The Annapolis, which has been the Canadian escort ship for the Royal Yacht Britannia during the Queen Mother's 13-day Atlantic provinces tour, was anchored a few yards down the government wharf here from the royal yacht.

Lieut. Loren Reynalds of Clarenceville, Que., one of the officers on the Sikorsky Sea King helicopter, was presented to the Queen Mother.

Later he told a reporter: "She sure asked a pile of questions about that helicopter."

At the Memorial University luncheon, the Queen Mother said in a brief speech she had been most touched by the kindness of the people of the Atlantic provinces.

SECOND CENTURY

Speaking about Canada's centennial year and the country's future she added:

"As Canada moves forward into its second century, I have found all around me a spirit of courage and enterprise which I feel certainly bodes well for the people of this great country in the years ahead."

Introducing the Queen Mother, Newfoundland Premier Joseph Smallwood said Newfoundlanders "are proud to remain British. We are that, and we will always remain that."

PROUD, GRATEFUL

He said, however, Newfoundlanders "are proud and grateful to be part of Canada."

The premier drew laughter when he added: "We hope Canada is proud and grateful to have us."

Mr. Smallwood said he believes it may be Newfoundland's fate to be the banner bearer of the British tradition in Canada.

ONE PROVINCE

"We pride ourselves in being the one province of Canada which upholds the connection with the mother country more than any other province.

The Queen Mother planted a small scarlet oak tree on the spacious grounds of Bowring Park, a gift to the city of St. John's from the Bowring family, prominent Newfoundland merchants and shipbuilders.

Following the tree planting ceremony, hundreds of children crowded closely around the Queen Mother, clapping and cheering as she paused to talk with many of them.

GARDEN PARTY

Later Friday afternoon, the Queen Mother attended a garden party for 2,000 people at government house.

In the evening the Queen Mother gave a small private dinner party aboard the Britannia for provincial government officials.

She leaves today for London aboard an RCAF Yukon aircraft.

Saskatchewan's Giant Dam Produces Centennial Jam

ELBOW, Sask. (CP) — Thousands of people from all over Saskatchewan, a handful from other provinces, and a host of dignitaries turned out 15 miles northwest of here Friday for the official dedication of the enormous Gardiner dam.

Saskatchewan residents turned the dedication into a major centennial celebration by driving hundreds of miles for the ceremony.

The three-mile-long dam, largest earth-fill type in Canada, will supply water for irrigation, hydro power, municipal use and water sports.

Prime Minister Pearson, Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker, Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher and national NDP Leader T. C. Douglas were among those who arrived at the dam site at about 12:30 p.m.

Mr. Diefenbaker was prime minister and Mr. Douglas was Saskatchewan premier when the 1958 federal - provincial agreement for construction of the dam on the South Saskatchewan River was signed.

The dam is named after the late James G. Gardiner, former Saskatchewan premier and federal agriculture minister in the two decades prior to 1947.

The reservoir behind the dam has been named after Mr. Diefenbaker. The opposition leader planned to liven up the afternoon proceedings by trying the fishing on "his" lake.

Mr. Douglas said completion of the dam is the realization of a 30-year dream.

"It will benefit the whole of Canada, because if we can stabilize the agriculture of this province it will help the economy generally," Mr. Douglas said.

He said there is a danger, now that the dam has been completed, that governments will lose their sense of urgency about the potential shortage of water on the prairie.

The lesson of the dry, dusty years of the depression was on many people's minds here. As Mr. Douglas put it: "Anyone who has lived in this country for any length of time knows that wet years won't happen all the time. We can still look forward to drought problems. This dam is only a first step."

Divorce Suit

Outside factors "beyond control of either" were blamed Friday as Esther Pike charged mental cruelty in filing divorce suit against controversial U.S. Episcopalian Bishop James Pike after 23-year marriage. Both said they don't plan to remarry. Pike was divorced from first wife and church later granted annulment.

Honors List Shifted

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson announced Friday that Britain's much - criticized honors list system is being revamped to shift some of the awards away from the civil service and toward deserving members of the public at large.

The cuts will be heaviest in the home civil service, where a semi - annual shower ranging from knighthoods to MBEs falls on high and lowly officials.

Over a period, corresponding reductions will be made in the defence and diplomatic service.

The prime minister told the Commons, in response to a question, that special attention will be paid in future honors' lists to special achievements in industry and export and to public and voluntary service outside the central government.

Bishops' Oaths Revised

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul has revised the oaths a bishop must take before his consecration, and has done away with the separate "oath against modernism," Vatican sources report.

The reform came in a decree of the sacred congregation for the doctrine of faith. The sources said they did not know when the new oaths would become effective.

* * *

Five new archbishops consecrated this week by Pope Paul took all the oaths in the traditional way.

"The formulas have been aligned with the time and made more concise," the sources said. They said the pontiff did away with the "oath against modernism" which bishops have had to take for 57 years because "its basic points are embodied" in a new oath.

Cleric Discusses Fidgets

Grindstones Hiding Cure for Anxieties

By REV. BRUCE MOLLOY

The New York Times recently published an article entitled Fidget and Fiddle.

"A local jeweler lately has been ordering for sale what he is pleased to call a Fidget Stone — a piece of jade with a small, thumblike indentation in the middle," the article read.

The idea appears to be that when life grows tense and the furies dance all around like Indians on the warpath and nerves jangle as though it were Thursday while it is still just Monday morning, you reach for your stone and caress it.

"This will be soothing, will slow the dancing furies to a crawl, will restore Monday to its proper place and keep the bottle of little pills unopened in the pocket and will make grass grow where once the psychiatrist's couch lay waiting.

★ ★ ★

"In other words, this is a professional job, hand-carved moulded, ground like prescription eyeglasses and, no doubt, a thing of charm and beauty.

"But will such a thing so deliberately created take the place of paper clips, pencil erasers and rubber bands? Those old friends have worn well, down many a long and twitching year."

★ ★ ★

Now there are many apparent reasons offered for fidget and fiddle — the anxiety of our times, pressure of business, international affairs and so on.

The Kingston Trio sings that they're rioting in Africa, starving in Spain, there are hurricanes in Florida and Texas needs rain. They sing the world is festering with unhappy souls, but we can be tranquil and thankful and proud for man's been endowed with a mushroom-shaped cloud.

★ ★ ★

Despite all the anxieties there is a suggested cure. It is called the process of relocating the grindstone.

As long as that is rubbing against the nose there are going to be doodles on the tablecloth, napkins torn to shreds, indeed little figures cut from folded paper, dancing hand in hand.

★ ★ ★

The summer is here now and with it comes vacation. Whoever heard of anyone lying on a warm beach in the sun and needing a piece of paper to tear into little squares or the blunt end of a match to be split into kindling with the finger nails?

Now all this talk of fidget stone and grindstone raises a problem that is essentially religious, in the sense of a view of life taken on faith, that is, the ultimate premises by which one lives.

★ ★ ★

Deep anxiety comes from having put our trust in something that is ultimately untrustworthy. It comes from living a life for something which ultimately will not sustain life.

As a result, desperate measures are resorted to when our idols reveal feet of clay. Therefore to combat anxiety we need a single ultimate for our lives — an ultimate that meets four specifications.

★ ★ ★

It must be genuinely worthwhile. It must cover the whole of life. It must be something to which all other ends are subordinated. It must be utterly reliable.

Obviously Christ meets these specifications.

Jesus said "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

★ ★ ★

He said "peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you."

He said "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

★ ★ ★

It is this faith that prompted the British actress Hayley Mills to say, following her conversion last year, "I feel that my life has taken on a deeper meaning than it had before and I have found a new kind of happiness with my communion."

Faith in Christ can help us, too.

Witnesses Thankful For Nanaimo's Help

NANAIMO (Special) — Jehovah's Witnesses official K. A. Little has expressed the group's thanks for the co-operation of civic officials, civic arena staff and the general hospitality of Nanaimo.

The sect last week held its four-day district convention which 2,375 people attended.

This was the second time in seven years that Nanaimo was chosen for the convention, attracting Witnesses from throughout the Island, the mainland, eastern Canada, Washington and California.

A feature of the meet was the public baptism of 31 new members in the Westward Ho indoor pool Friday morning.

To feed the large crowd, a cafeteria was set up on the arena premises; complete with food preparation departments, ovens, dishwashers and food serving lines. Total number of meals served was 8,000.

More than 100 canvassers helped find billets for the visitors in homes, hotels and motels.

An average of 10 speakers a day for the four days spoke on topics ranging from salvation to child training.

Liturgy Examined

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Week of Study Scheduled Here

An important explanation of all aspects of the liturgical renewal will be given in Victoria next Friday.

It will be given by Bishop Remi De Roo and Father William Hill, ordained in Duncan in 1961, at the Liturgical Week, being held at St. Anne's Academy from Friday to Aug. 4.

Other speakers will be Father John Zuyderwijk of the Victoria diocese and Dr. Alexander Peloquin of Boston College, Mass.

MUSIC'S ROLE

Dr. Peloquin and Father Zuyderwijk will concentrate on the role of music in the updating process.

Father Hill has just returned to Victoria after two years liturgical studies at the Institute of St. Anslem in Rome.

His topics for discussion will be The Mass Throughout the Ages and Recent Directives for Changes in the Mass, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

During the following weekdays he will speak on the Canon of the Mass, Liturgy Devotions and Our Lady, Role of the Celebrant, Congregation, Choir, Conductor, Organist, and Lector, during Mass, and The Renewal of the Liturgy.

Zuyderwijk

Father Zuyderwijk was ordained in St. Andrew's Cathedral in May, on Ascension Thursday. A native of Holland with a wide experience of social work as a layman, he was chairman of the combined Youth and Sports Organization and is active in community functions and chairman of Catholic Action in Victoria.

A successful businessman before he decided to become a priest, he entered the Schola Latina in The Netherlands, a seminary for late vocations.

He will be available during the week to assist directors and organists and to teach basic principles of choir and congregational singing.

People wishing to attend Liturgical Week are advised to register with Sr. Patricia Thibault, St. Ann's Academy, as soon as possible. Fees are $8 for the week, $5 for the weekend and $1 for a weekday, with special rates for students and couples.

To Perform Here

Four-Voice Tradition

The Kingsmen, the California Lutheran College's male quartet, will visit Victoria Aug. 19 during a concert tour.

No location is yet known for the concert, which is part of a tour to 18 cities in the Pacific Northwest and California during August.

Included in the concert will be sacred and secular music.

THEATRE ARTS

The quartet is a traditional singing group at the college, with newcomers are trained each year to fill graduating vacancies.

Ernie Fosse, from Camarillo, sings first tenor. He is a theatre arts major, a licenced radio engineer and a graduate of the Lutheran Bible Institute in Seattle.

Following graduation from the California Lutheran College, Fosse intends to study at Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

Carl Andersen from Norwalk is second tenor, he is a music major and has arranged several songs for the group.

After graduation next year, he intends to become a secondary school teacher.

Wayne Fabert, the only junior in the quartet, sings baritone and is a history major at the college. He is also an experienced bagpiper and played with the Campbell Pipe Band for several years in California.

A soloist with the college concert choir, he spends remaining spare time as an amateur genealogist.

The remaining member of the group is Craig Geiger, who sings bass. A psychology major, Geiger has been active in volunteer groups working with patients at Camarillo State Hospital and after graduation will attend Luther Seminary in St. Paul in preparation for the ministry.

Replacement Church Rising

LADYSMITH—Work is progressing well on a $160,000 church here to replace St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, destroyed by fire last year.

Building committee chairman Ian Peddle said this week great praise must go to the congregation, which has raised $100,000, towards the cost. There are 180 Roman Catholic families in Ladysmith.

The church will seat 225 and the hall will have a capacity of 300.

The modern-style church is being built on a five-acre site adjacent to Ladysmith General Hospital.

The congregation has been worshipping in the Native Sons' Hall since the November fire.

"The church and hall are just a start. The complex when completed will include a school, nun's residence and rectory," said Mr. Peddle.

Slowdown Terminated

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's driver examiners and motor vehicle inspectors have agreed to call off a work-to-rule slowdown on the understanding the provincial government will negotiate in good faith toward a new wage agreement. The men denounced recent increases, which brought annual salaries to a minimum of $5,725 and maximum of $6,150, as too low.

Stevenson Memorial, Emmanuel

Two Baptist Congregations Unite Under Single Roof

Sunday marks the closing of a chapter in the lives of Baptists in Victoria—and the opening of a new one.

Emmanuel and Stevenson Memorial Baptist Churches have amalgamated their administration and will ultimately form a new church on a recently acquired two-acre property close to Gordon Head University campus.

The merger has been accomplished in a series of steps, the final one being Sunday when the last service will be held in Stevenson Church at 1792 Townley before sale of the property.

Rev. Norman Archer said, "It is hoped all friends of Stevenson, both past and present, will attend the closing service of praise and thanksgiving at 9:30 a.m."

Until the new church is built, the Stevenson congregation will worship at Emmanuel.

"Baptists realize that, with the changing face of our city, our churches are clustered too close together, and too near the centre of the city," Mr. Archer said.

Stevenson Church was formed 10 years ago from a mission Sunday school on Shelbourne Street.

All Churchmen To Read It

DETROIT (Special) — Some 500 Protestant ministers and Jewish rabbis in metropolitan Detroit are to receive copies of the archdiocesan newspaper, The Michigan Catholic.

They will receive the copies as free subscription gifts from individual priests in the archdiocese.

TRY TO REPORT

A letter explaining the reasons for the unusual action said that, "although things Catholic probably are predominant in in the paper, we try to report interesting news and views of our fellow Christian and Jewish brothers.

"Just the knowledge that you are among our readers should keep us more honestly glued to this purpose."

In Buffalo, N.Y., Bishop McNulty has announced the diocesan newspaper the Magnificent will be sent into every Catholic home in the diocese, starting with the Nov. 3 edition.

These subscriptions won't likely be a gift.

Although he didn't say so in as many words, Bishop McNulty took the line, "We plan to make the Magnificent easily available . . . it will be delivered by mail every week to every home."

The paper has a circulation of 60,000 and at present is received by one-third of the Catholic families in the diocese.

Mixup Strands Pickers

A couple of dozen young berry pickers were stranded in Central Saanich Friday night because of a misunderstanding about bus service.

Loganberry grower Arnie Petersen, 6332 Central Saanich Road, said he drove some of the youngsters into town after they had waited two hours for a bus that never arrived.

But a Vancouver Island Coach Lines spokesman later explained, "There was no bus there because we didn't know there was anyone out there to be picked up. The first we heard was a phone call at 7 p.m."

The misunderstanding apparently was caused by the fact some pickers found their own transportation to the farms and the coach line didn't know the pickers were stranded.

Movie Holmes Dies at 75

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor Basil Rathbone, 75, famed for his movie portrayals of Sherlock Holmes, died of a heart attack Friday in his Manhattan apartment.

A stage actor since 1911, Rathbone was an accomplished Shakespearean performer for decades before teaming up with the late Nigel Bruce in 1937 in the first of the films based on the Sherlock Holmes stories of A. Conan Doyle.

In later years, he would receive fan mail addressed to Sherlock Holmes. He also was the Holmes of radio.

Rathbone defected from Hollywood in the late 1940s, declaring:

SEVEN YEARS

"Hollywood gets waves of enthusiasm; you're a terrific success, you're a vogue, and then they drop you for somebody else. I played Sherlock Holmes for seven years and nobody thought I could do anything else. They put you in a slot and the slot pays off for a time — and then you're just left in it."

The six-foot-one actor with penetrating black eyes was every inch the public's conception of the well-bred Englishman.

ELEVEN EPICS

He appeared in more than 100 movies but by far the best known were the 11 Holmes epics made over the seven years.

Born June 13, 1892, at Transvaal, South Africa, he was the first of his family to become an actor. His father was an engineer and his uncle a British MP.

The family moved to Britain shortly after his birth and he attended Repton College and was briefly a London insurance clerk before succumbing to a boyhood desire for the theatre.

TOURING COMPANY

Rathbone trained with the Frank Benson Shakespearean touring company in Britain, Europe and the U.S. from 1911 until he joined the British army in 1914, playing 42 parts in 22 plays.

He was discharged in 1917 as a captain and holder of the Military Cross, which he said he won for disguising himself as a tree and crossing no-man's-land to get information from the German lines.

Hits on the London stage and Broadway followed, then movies, radio and eventually TV.

ROBIN HOOD

Rathbone's other films included Robin Hood, Tale of Two Cities, David Copperfield, Anna Karenina and, as his career waned, horror pictures. His favorite stage role was Romeo opposite Katherine Cornell's Juliet on Broadway in 1934.

He married playwright-scenarist Ouida Bergere in 1926. They had an adopted daughter and he also had a son by a previous marriage.

'Lemmings Solution For Rats'

Coun. William Noel of Saanich Friday night said there's a simple solution to the rat problems at Hartland Road dump.

Bring some lemmings over from Norway, he said, cross them with the rats and the result would have the curious migratory habit of drowning themselves in the sea.

The new lemrats, as he called them, may head for Brentwood Bay.

If lemmings couldn't be brought over, he said perhaps the rats could be crossed with gulls, which go out to the sea or lakes to wash themselves after scavenging the dump.

TV Merger Hits Snag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. federal appeals court Friday temporarily blocked the proposed merger of American Broadcasting Co. with International Telephone and Telegraph.

The court stayed the effect of a Federal Communications Commission order approving the merger — which would be the largest in communications industry history — pending further hearings on an order to block the consolidation until a full appeal is heard.

The justice department sought the ruling from the U.S. court of appeals as it moved on two fronts to halt the merger, despite FCC approval.

The court ordered further hearings July 31 on the justice department's request for a stay pending its appeal of the FCC decision, which prompted inter-agency fighting between justice and the FCC.

The FCC order would have gone into effect at midnight Friday if the court had not issued its temporary order.

In asking the three-member appeal court to stay the FCC order temporarily and set aside the FCC's two orders approving the compact between ITT and ABC, the justice department said completion of the merger posed grave danger to the national interest.

In arguing for more time, the justice department told the court that no significant damage would be done to the two companies by delaying the merger "in contrast to the grave effect upon the public interest of a denial of the stay."

There were rumors in financial circles that ITT was trying to back out of the merger, but it issued a statement saying it would "oppose vigorously down the line" the justice department action trying to block the consolidation.

Modern look in king-sized lumber carriers

★ ★ ★

Leviathan Loading Lumber

New Trend May Start With Big Bulk Carrier

A 45,000-ton experiment in bulk carriers is tied up at Ogden Point taking on 1,500,000 feet of deck cargo lumber.

The three-month-old, British-built leviathan, Atlantic City, will be carrying 13,000,000 board feet of lumber plus 10,000 tons of pulp and paper when she sails from Port Alberni to England next week.

★ ★ ★

The problem to be decided by the 668-foot ship's charterers, Canadian Transport, is whether the trip is a financial success.

Commissioned only three months ago by her owners, Sir William Reardon Smith and Sons Ltd., the huge carrier hauled coal from Poland to Japan on her maiden voyage, proceeding under ballast to Vancouver Island to load lumber.

Powered by a 13,800-horse-power engine and driven by a propeller that is 20 feet in diameter, the Atlantic City made the crossing from Japan in 11 days.

The largest ship to load at Ogden Point, she carries a crew of 55 officers and men, and during her maiden voyage passed through the Suez Canal at the time when there were signs of impending war.

"We could see tanks and men being moved across the canal into the Sinai Desert," said chief officer Anthony Thomas of those three days it took to pass through the canal, three times the normal length.

★ ★ ★

If the lumber carrying proves to be profitable, the Atlantic City will be back in Victoria, and may start a new trend in bulk carrier loading.

Courtroom Parade

Four Men Convicted Of Assaulting Two

Four men who pursued two married couples like a "pack of wild dogs" and "savaged" them in a Saanich apartment house parking lot July 2, were sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate William Ostler in central magistrate's court Friday.

Convicted were Arnold Fuller, 29, of 918 Green; Ray Fuller, 23, Nanaimo; William Pepper, 25, of 113 Gorge, and Gordon Price, 26, of 3205 Aldridge.

All four were convicted of assaulting Norman Ball, causing him bodily harm, for which they received two months in jail each.

NOT CONCURRENT

They were also convicted of the common assault of Robert Peaker and were sentenced to a month in jail, not concurrent.

They had pleaded not guilty. The crown's evidence was that the assault occurred after a car containing the four accused had attempted to pass on the right of a car containing the married couples.

When the car containing Mr. Ball and Mr. Peaker and their wives stopped in the parking lot, the accused got out of their car and attacked the two men, court was told.

BROKEN TEETH

Mr. Ball told the court he received two broken teeth, cuts, assorted bruising and a sore ear. Mr. Peaker said he suffered a black eye.

After Magistrate Ostler found the four guilty, prosecutor John Macintyre said: "It is absolutely outrageous that people cannot drive without being assaulted this way."

He added it had been a "traumatic experience" for the two couples.

IN PARKING LOT

Magistrate Ostler said: "Conduct of this type simply cannot be countenanced in a civilized community."

The accused pursued the couples "like a pack of wild dogs and savaged them in their own parking lot," the magistrate added.

Mr. Macintyre said Pepper had previous convictions for obstructing a peace officer, robbery and breaking and entering with intent to steal.

Arnold Fuller had convictions for theft and causing a disturbance. Price for impaired driving and Ray Fuller for mischief.

★ ★ ★

David King, 3229 Doncaster, sentenced to four months in jail Thursday for being unlawfully in a dwelling house, was sentenced Friday to 18 months in jail for false pretences.

King pleaded guilty to two charges of false pretences, each charge containing three counts, and to gaining lodgings by fraud at the Dominion Hotel, 759 Yates.

King got goods worth $284.80 with the worthless cheques.

NO RECOVERY

The goods were usually sold for nominal amounts in beer parlors, court was told. There was no recovery.

Det. Napoleon Buchard said King had been most helpful in the police investigation.

"Some of the cases had not been reported to the police," he said.

King had convictions for false pretences, assault and uttering, court was told.

★ ★ ★

Francis Holden, 36, no fixed address, was sentenced to concurrent terms of four months for assaulting a policeman and one month for causing a disturbance.

Holden, who pleaded guilty to the charge at an earlier hearing, threw a case of beer on the sidewalk July 12 and assaulted Constable Walter Sagert.

Magistrate Ostler said Holden was sick but not sick enough to be committed to a mental institution.

"I do not think that you are entirely responsible for your actions," he said.

★ ★ ★

A man was sentenced to three months in jail for indecent exposure and fined $350 for impaired driving.

Wendell Aakre, 5994 West Saanich, pleaded guilty to both charges.

He had exposed himself at his home June 11 and crashed his car on Foul Bay Road June 17. Magistrate Ostler said the sentences were not concurrent.

★ ★ ★

David Harvey, 18, 427 Hillside, was sentenced to the Young Offender's Unit for a definite term of six months and an indefinite term of six months for car theft.

Harvey admitted stealing a car July 12. The car was later heavily damaged when it was rolled over in the Colwood area.

Kenneth Barnard, 19, 509 Selkirk, was given a suspended sentence and placed on a $500 bond for one year on a charge of possession of stolen property, the car.

★ ★ ★

James King, 1065 Willow, was fined $75 for stealing an American sailor's wallet July 16. He pleaded guilty.

★ ★ ★

Fined for careless driving: Anne McGee, 1466 Rockland, $40; Alfred Roberts, 3504 Plymouth, $40; Reginald Pierce, 841 Esquimalt, $35.

Bombers Blamed For Oil

LONDON (AP) — Most of the oil that fouled beaches in southwest Britain after the supertanker Torrey Canyon ran aground last March 18 was released when British pilots bombed the tanker in an effort to sink it, lawyers for the ship's owners contend.

The assertion was in a letter received Thursday by Col. Patrick Wooton, a landowner who threatened to sue the Barracuda Tanker Corp., a subsidiary of the Union Oil Co. of California.

It was taken by officials in London to indicate the company's defence to a suit by the British government. Britain is asking $9,000,000 compensation for damages and the cost of clean-up operations.

Five-Year Warranty On Police Raiment

The new $23 shirts issued members of the Saanich police department are guaranteed to last five years, Reeve Hugh Curtis said Friday.

"They are exceptionally good quality and can't be compared with the regular-type shirts," added the reeve, who is chairman of the municipality's police commission.

The manufacturers officially call the color "peal green" — a greenish blue hue — and the garments are of a wool and synthetic fabric.

"Additionally, they present a far more business-like appearance than the regular type shirt of worn without a jacket," said the reeve.

Reeve Promises All Facts

Reeve Hugh Curtis Friday promised Saanich ratepayers they will get all the facts on the municipality's sewers utility plans before the issue goes to a vote.

"It is not possible to give these details at this particular time, nor to answer some of the inquiries which are being received," he said, explaining that Saanich's engineering and financial officers still have a lot of data to collect.

★ ★ ★

He said he wanted to assure Saanich citizens they will get all the facts because, since council discussed sewer consolidation last week, "there has been a small amount of resident reaction asking for more information or expressing opposition to the proposal."

★ ★ ★

"It should be emphasized that it is council's intention to work toward reference of this question to the ratepayers in December, and in the weeks preceding that vote council will make certain the entire question will be explained."

Saanich officials are trying to determine a single sewerage charge for the entire municipality.

It would be calculated after the debts of the six existing systems are consolidated, along with the costs of installing sewers in a specified area within the next five years.

The consolidation question, which will take the form of a referendum, will need a 60-per-cent majority for adoption.

★ ★ ★

"Council has not yet had the opportunity to review the several alternative plans which are open to the municipality in the establishing of a utility," said the reeve.

"In all logic, and if this municipality is to effectively overcome the sewerage problems which are assuming increasing importance, then a resounding affirmative vote by a fully-informed electorate is essential."

Red Guards Taunt Reds

LONDON (AP) — Pravda has published a report by one of its correspondents describing alleged intrusions across the Soviet border by Chinese Communist Red Guards. The account says "several hundred, perhaps up to 1,000, Red Guards taunted Soviet frontier troops." It adds: "There were no military clashes."

Fjords Norway's Great Scenic Wonders

OSLO (CNS) — You need only three things to create the great scenic wonder that is Norway's fjord world: a mountain range, a riverbed and an ice age lasting some 10,000 to 20,000 years.

Norway had them all a million years ago, but there weren't any Norwegians around at that time to appreciate nature's handiwork as many millions of tons of glacial ice gouged their way down the river valleys.

When the glaciers receded the result was Norway's numerous fjords stretching some 500 miles from present-day Stavanger in the south to Kristiansund in the north. These long arms of the ocean cut into the coastline as much as 90 miles and make the Norwegian coastline almost 12,500 miles along.

★ ★ ★

The early Norwegian Stone Age hunters were practical men and probably thought less of the spectacular scenery than of the rich fishing banks outside the island-studded fjords. The water were and still are alive with cod, herring and delicious shellfish.

It was the English who discovered the haunting beauty of the fjords. A hundred years ago they began exploring the area with sketchbook and note pad, describing their adventures in newspapers and magazines.

These early English were rugged. They travelled by horse and buggy and on foot, crossing the fjords in rowboat ferries and sleeping in the same mountain inns and waterfront hostels used by highland herders and salty walrus hunters.

★ ★ ★

Today you can explore the Norwegian fjords in comfort in two hours or two weeks, travelling by luxurious sight-seeing bus, fast hydrofoil boat or an overnight steamer. Many of the cruise liners sail right up the larger fjords and for those staying awhile the accommodations in the cities and resort towns of Norway are for the most part excellent.

There are plenty of fjords to choose from. Romdals Fjord in the north makes a 45-mile cut into the mainland and is best visited from the city of Kristiansund. During the summer months the fjord world above the Arctic Circle is a place where the sun never sets.

★ ★ ★

One of the best-known of all Norwegian fjords is the Geiranger Fjord with its "Seven Sisters" and "Bridal Veil" waterfalls.

The Nord Fjord south of Aalesund features a number of first-class resorts. The coastal towns around the Nord Fjord and the Sogne Fjord are also departure points for tours to Europe's largest remaining glacier — the Jostedalsbreen, a white spread of ice that is 60 miles long and 1,650 feet deep. The Sogne Fjord, Norway's largest, cuts 110 miles into the mountains and is up to 4,000 feet deep.

★ ★ ★

Hardanger fjord south of the city of Bergen is especially beautiful during the apple blossom time of late May and early June. Bergen is also the starting point for tours through most of the major fjords, over the snowcapped mountains and down the eastern valleys of Norway to the capital Oslo.

Around the fishing port of Stavanger is the sprawling network of the Ryfylke Fjords including the majestic Lyse which is the narrowest of all Norway's fjord waterways. Its perpendicular cliffs rise some 1,800 feet above the calm, quiet surface of the sea.

★ ★ ★

This magnificent fjord — Geiranger — with its "Seven Sisters" and "Bridal Veil" waterfalls, is one of the best known and certainly one of the most splendid of Norway's numerous scenic wonders. Like all fjords it was carved by ice eons ago.

Delightful—And Honest Too

MONTREAL (CP)—Elmer Allen of Milton, Fla., who lost his wallet containing $350 at Expo 67 last week, received the money and the wallet by registered mail after returning home.

Enclosed was a letter from Albert Turenne of St. Paul l'Ermite, 15 miles north of Montreal, saying he had found the wallet on a terrace at the fair site.

Mr. Allen replied in French, enclosing a cheque for $100. He commented he had found Expo "delightful, beautiful, clean and fresh, with moderate prices and everything of a high calibre."

Stan Delaplane Tips You Off

SUVA, Fiji — Suva is a neat, flowery British crown colony, the capital of the 300 Fiji Islands and 500,000 people who live on them.

It is the most colorful port in the South Seas. Tropical bougainvillea hang over streets blazing with hibiscus and parasol flamboyan trees. Fiji police direct traffic in snow-white wrap-around sulus topped by navy blue tunics with red piping.

The markets with Fijian women whose wiry hair looks as if it had been cut with hedge clippers. East Indian women in bright saris, gold earrings and streak of crimson paint through the parting of the hair.

Europeans in crisp white shirts and shorts and knee-length socks. Visiting French sailors with scarlet pompons on their white hats.

This is a one-day stop for the cruise ships. It's a duty-free port. Shops crammed with Japanese pearls, transistor radios and cameras. Great, creamy South Pacific shells, woven pandanus mats and clusters of green coconuts.

★ ★ ★

"We are taking a South Pacific cruise and would appreciate any advice on good buys . . ."

Your probable ports: Papeete, Tahiti — all I ever found here was French perfume. Auckland, New Zealand: Sheepskin rugs. Sydney and Melbourne: Australian fire opals. (There's a duty-free shop in Sydney, but it hasn't the choice of Suva.)

Suva has the choice of the Japanese imports. I'd buy at the one-price department stores. Burns Philp and Morris Hedstrom. The big colonial hotel for a noon beer (get Fiji bitter) is the Grand Pacific — known all over as the G.P.H.

★ ★ ★

"Can you tell me the formula or percentage for tipping on a cruise ship?"

Once I heard several travel writers argue this. They come to a figure of 10 per cent of the cost of the voyage. A steamship man told me: "Nonsense. That's tipping for the passage plus the service in your room and at the table. It's like tipping the captain and owners, too."

On a long voyage — more than two weeks — I tip for two people: table steward, $1 for each day. Room steward, the same. Deck steward, $5 at the begining of the trip. Wine steward, $2 a week. Bar stewards, 50 cents service at the end of the evening.

On a short trip — five days — I double that for the table steward and room steward. I cut the deck steward to $3. Tips run higher on American ships than on foreign. They run higher in the Caribbean than in the Pacific or Mediterranean. Caribbean cruises are full of New Yorkers on short voyages and accustomed to New York tipping. Pacific cruises have the Australians, Canadians and New Zealanders who are realistic and not easily bullied.

★ ★ ★

"My husband will be on sabbatical leave, and we have a choice of places to study (tropical medicine) in warm countries. We thought of Panama . . ."

I don't know what it's like to live there, but I can't get with Panama. Colon and Panama City are honky tonk sailors' towns. I am for the islands: Trinidad or Martinique would be my first choice. Trinidad for a British-type colony. Martinique for French food and wine.

You can get a little rock happy if you're too long on an island. So maybe some place where the cruise ships come occasionally might appeal to you. Those would be Jamaica, St. Thomas in the American Virgins, Curacao and Port-of-Spain in Trinidad.

In the South Pacific, Papeete in Tahiti and this town of Suva. Tahiti has the best food, but this town has the color.

Expo 'Gate' 43,000,000?

MONTREAL (CP) — Expo's "mayor," Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien, said Friday he estimated about 8,000,000 more visits will be made to the world's fair during its six-month run than were forecast by experts in 1966.

Expo officials figure the turnstiles will click 43,000,000 times before the fair is over compared with the estimate of 35,000,000 produced in 1966 by a firm called Market Facts of Canada Ltd., the operations director said.

Ottawa Keeps Tabs On Record Influx

OTTAWA (CP)—An unprecedented number of visitors from overseas is being recorded by a new immigration check system. The system recorded 100,000 entries during June alone.

"Ten years ago, 100,000 would have been the annual figure," a department official said in an interview Friday.

Expo is the obvious draw for the visitors from abroad.

The immigration staff in Montreal alone has been bolstered by 130 summer employees to handle the influx.

The card-indexed entry-exit system is aimed mainly at keeping tabs on foreign visitors who overstay their time limit in Canada.

From 15,000 to 20,000 have not checked out on time since the system went into operation March 1.

The new system also is allowing the immigration department to keep out a number of Expo-bound chiselers.

The check system does not apply to American citizens, whose sheer numbers would put an impossible load of paper work on the department and create bottlenecks at border points.

But coming in with the increased number of visitors is a greater number of criminals.

Over 30s Stare Most

Story by NANCY BROWN

Girls who wear miniskirts in Victoria say it's the middle-aged men who stare the most.

"The old boys really seem to get turned on," was a typical comment as Colonist reporter and photographer toured downtown Victoria, Friday.

"Old" apparently means anyone over 30 to the kids who enjoy the comfort and freedom of short, short skirts.

"It's the older businessmen especially who turn around for a second look" said 19-year-old Evelyn Stewart, 1205 Fernwood.

She said she wore her clothes short because they were comfortable and fashionable, "but I hate to think that long skirts may come back."

Sister's Suit

Gail Hamilton, 18, of 1448 Taunton, was pictured wearing her 12-year-old sister's suit.

"She's three inches taller than me," she said. "I don't really like my skirts this short though this isn't really a mini.

"I suppose you can't blame men for getting turned on if a girl wears the really short skirts but most skirts are long compared with shorts and bathing suits," she added.

Ellen Clausen, 17, of 19 Hampton, who is staying in Victoria from Smithers, said she wore short skirts because they are "new and different."

Rides Offered

She said that men would often stop their cars and offer her rides, "but not any more than they do if I wear longer skirts."

"Long skirts, right down to the knee, look peculiar," commented 15-year-old Pat Johnson, 1495 Derby.

"The boys my own age would turn around to look if I wore long clothes."

"If you can wear shorts or bikinis, why not minis?"

Reasons for wearing the appealing, swinging clothes were, said the girls, that they were cool, comfortable, convenient and cute.

Likes Them

Bonnie Moore, 16, of 2862 Wyndeatte, wears the skirts simply because she likes them.

"I've never noticed if the men stare, I just wear short skirts because I have more freedom of movement and because I hate long skirts flapping around my knees."

Bonnie Dennis, 21, or 1734 Newton, said, "Miniskirts are comfortable, convenient and fashionable, and it's nice if the men look at me."

In a hurry for a doctor's appointment, Carol Vaughan, 15, of 900 Mount Tolmie, said her light dress was cool, and easy going for casual wear.

"It doesn't take long to get dressed up if you wear a mini-dress," she said.

Eyes Swivel

Male eyes swivelled as she rushed on, quite oblivious to the attraction of her clothes.

Lynn St. Hilaire, 15, 564 Hillside, and Robyn McIntosh, 15, 4135 Barber, said they made their own clothes in a length that suited them.

"We like this length. It looks cute, and we're not interested in other people's opinions. All the kids we know like short skirts," they said.

Visitors felt that styles in Victoria were somewhat behind the times.

Fifteen-year-old Jean Cameron from Winnipeg said the girls there were wearing far shorter skirts and there are more of them.

American visitors from Roseburg, Ore., agreed that in their home state there were more, shorter skirts.

A group of older women seated on a bench watched the girls swinging by.

"I like their clothes," said Mrs. Elsie Braithwaite, 77 Fort, a newcomer from Australia who plans to make her home in Victoria.

"They look so young and full of life," she added. "Of course, I don't like them if the skirts are too short and show their underwear, but mostly they do look nice."

'Immediate Dredging Needed'

Clean Gorge or Fill It In, Waterway Society Urges

By JIM BRAHAN

Either clean up the Gorge or fill it in, the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Society president said Friday.

"If the Gorge is not dredged soon, then eventually it will have to be filled in," said Lloyd Smith, 137 Kingham Place. But he added in a more serious vein that the society finds the thoughts of a filled-in Gorge entirely unacceptable.

"We have got to tackle the problem now when there are still people around who remember the Gorge like it used to be," Mr. Smith said.

FAR BEYOND

He said the growth of algae in the Gorge has been accelerating far beyond the normal and natural rate, and that early in the summer the algae dies and stinks out the whole area.

"The stench of the mud flats at low tide is unbelievable."

The society claims that dredging of the Gorge should proceed immediately on the assumption that the communities will eventually solve their sewage problems and that polluted waters draining into the Gorge waterway will stop.

HIGH COST

Saanich community planning head Thomas Loney said he did not think the Gorge would ever be filled in, and pointed out that costs of such an operation would be astronomical.

"Even if it was filled in—and I can't see a filled-in Gorge — the land wouldn't be of too much value as far as building is concerned," he said.

"The filling in of the Gorge would be the worst thing that could ever happen to this area," said L. E. Kirk, Victoria realtor. "If it ever came about it would turn the whole area into just typical subdivision property."

Mr. Kirk said the Gorge is one of Victoria's most valuable assets.

"It's far superior to anything owned by other western Canadian cities, and notice the values they place on their rivers and streams."

Mr. Kirk said a cleanup of the Gorge waters is long overdue.

"For the past 20 years there have been discussions on cutting a canal through to Esquimalt Harbor to allow proper tidal flushing action to clean out the Gorge."

This would allow, he said, for the area to become a recreational area as it was in the past.

Meanwhile the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterways Society is seeking support in its bid to start a dredging-of-the-Gorge campaign.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST.

July 22, 1867

The settlers of Salt Spring Island, who form a large and growing community, complain that fare to that place from Victoria on the steamer Sir James Douglas has been raised to $4 and that in future the vessel will touch at the island but once a month. This step is certainly an injudicious one. Our agricultural interests should certainly be, fostered and the efforts of our farmers to find a market for their produce should not be thwarted by the government.

It is asserted that except a higher price of passage than has been obtained heretofore be charged that the cost of running the vessel will exceed her receipts. There is but one answer to this assertion. Advertise for tenders, and see if the service cannot be performed for a less sum than the boat will lose. If it can, then haul her off and let private enterprise have a chance.

No Dentists at Sooke

Desperate Pleas Go Unanswered

There is a desperate need in the Sooke area for a dentist to serve about 6,500 people out to Port Renfrew, according to Sooke Chamber of Commerce president, John Slemko.

"The nearest dentist is in Colwood, about 17 miles from Sooke," he said Friday, "And there's been no dentist in Sooke since the last one retired early this year.

"We've appealed to the B.C. Dental Association, but we've had absolutely no co-operation.

"At Colwood there's at least a three months waiting list — they're taking emergency cases only," said Mr. Slemko.

He said people in the district were wanting to get their children's teeth fixed up before school, and added that it's an awfully long way — some 65 miles for Port Renfrew residents to drive into Colwood.

"We have a brand new dental office, and there's a qualified nurse here.

"Even if we could just get someone to come out part time it would help — there's plenty of work here."

Fugitives Sought

Anthony Garfield and Donald Hugh Kirkpatrick are being sought by police after walking out of William Head Minimum Security prison Friday.

Garfield is five feet nine inches with light brown hair and blue eyes. Kirkpatrick is five feet eight inches, small build, and has dark brown hair and blue eyes.

Free Food Stall Will Open Today

Victoria's free food stall will be open today, according to Mrs. Joan Price, stall director.

The stall, which donates food to welfare recipients, will be open from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the Elks' Hall annex at 732 Cormorant.

'Wine Press' Under Fire

Chamber Digs Deeply Into Youth Periodical

By GEORGE INGLIS

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce board of directors was told Friday that its civic affairs committee is investigating the Wine Press, a publication of the Victoria Youth Council.

"None of us are in favor of censorship," committee chairman Clyde Savage said, in discussing his committee's decision to send a copy of the paper to Prime Minister Pearson.

"We want to know if it is true the federal government is supplying money to the Victoria Youth Council, and if this is the type of literature it is helping to subsidize."

The Colonist learned on good authority Friday that the attorney-general's department will be approached early next week by more than one source, seeking clarification on aspects of the publication which some believe may be in violation of the Criminal Code.

All Activities Probed

Mr. Savage said his committee is investigating the activities of the paper, where it is printed and distribution.

Some of milder items contained in one copy of the publication, which is liberally sprinkled with four-letter words, recommended:

- Organized living accommodations for draft dodgers;
- A program of "destruction and awakening;"
- Smoking marijuana as a "meditational practice" as a "metaphysical herb less habituating than tobacco," both reprints from other publications;
- An easier method of obtaining welfare for those with no wish to work.

Monday night, Oak Bay council heard an appeal by Charles Barber requesting permission to sell the next two editions of the paper in the community, without a licence.

In Regular Manner

The council refused permission for sale without licence, and will consider a licence application in the regular manner of any other business.

It is understood that similar requests have been sent to Saanich and Esquimalt councils.

Helen Beirnes, a member of Mr. Savage's committee, said, "I am sorry to see they are going to receive some of the publicity they so desire.

"This peculiar breed of people, unfortunately seems to thrive on publicity, no matter how adverse. They see mto live to shock and offend people."

Miss Beirnes added, "It is most unfortunate we have young, well-educated people producing such trash. What a pity they do not turn their minds to something more worthwhile."

Funds Source Asked

Fellow committee member W. D. Tindall, said, "My main concern is whether there is any connection with the Company of Young Canadians ... If there is, it is time the taxpayers expressed an opinion on the use of public funds for such a purpose."

"I have no objection to these people," Mr. Tindall said, "but I do object if there is any use of the funds supposed to improve cultural standards. .. None of us are in favor of censorship, as such."

The first copy of the paper came out in February, at a time when the Victoria Youth Council was located at 749 Broughton.

Island, Lower Mainland

Campfire Permits Suspension Lifted

The suspension of campfire permits on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland was lifted at noon Friday.

The B.C. Forest Service said improved weather condition reduced the critical hazard in the woods which resulted in the suspension July 14.

However, the past week was the busiest of the fire season so far for firefighters throughout the province. They put out a total of 274 fires, leaving 122 still burning.

EXTREME CARE

A spokesman warned that unless the public uses extreme caution in the woods the suspension of campfire permits may have to be reimposed.

One fire last week at Skirt Mountain near Goldstream cost the lives of two aerial firefighters when their plane crashed while on water bombing duty.

To date firefighting costs are estimated at $1,033,200, more than double the $404,000 for the same period last year.

MORE SUN

A ridge of higher pressure is expected to bring sun to the southeastern portion of the province this weekend ending a period of shower activity which has helped the firefighters.

Sunny weather is forecast for most of the province with some showers on the north coast.

Charges Go Pop!

Police were called to a Beckley Street address Friday night to answer a complaint that there were three boys drinking in a shed and the complaint turned out to be right. They were drinking orange soda and cola. They were spared charges of drinking in a public place.

Three Sent To Hospital

Three people were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital Friday after the car in which they were passengers hit a stop sign at Richmond and Lansdowne.

Marian Jubb, 69, of Kiwanis Village, was admitted with a leg injury. Millie Boxwell, 81, of Kiwanis Village, was treated for a bruised knee and Doris Spraggett, 64, 1545 Oakland, was treated for shock.

Saanich police said the car was driven by John Redpath, 66, of 1560 Rockland.

Children First In Soviet Union

By GAIL SCOTT

MONTREAL (CP) — Soviet women have greater rights than women of other countries, said a prominent female Soviet economist.

Mrs. Galina Prokhorova of Moscow made the statement at a lecture in the theatre of the Soviet pavilion at Expo 67.

★ ★ ★

The crowd of about 750, most of them U.S. citizens, was told that women make up 55 per cent of the population and 44 per cent of all students in the Soviet Union.

Women played a large part in education and government areas, holding 425 of the 1,517 deputy posts.

Thirty-three per cent of all engineers were women.

Women also played a major part in trade unions, sports and cultural life, and the cultural ministry was largely made up of women.

"Much has been done to make sure that equal rights are more than a paper declaration."

Mrs. Prokhorova also spoke of family care, weddings and divorces.

"Children come first," she said, and are well provided with free nurseries and kindergartens.

★ ★ ★

"Weddings are a time for family celebration. A few days prior to the wedding the couple makes an application for the wedding certificate. On the wedding day the couple goes to the wedding palace with the relatives where the certificate is 'certified'."

Brides in Russia wore white too, and "the ancient custom" of exchanging wedding rings was being revived.

Divorces could be granted, but the couple talked it over first in a court apparently similar to family court in North America.

Custody of the children was decided "according to the child's interests."

The speaker offered to answer questions from the floor after her speech and was closely questioned about family planning and birth control.

She told the audience family planning is a matter for husband and wife, and there is no government control over the number of children they have.

Mother's Day was not celebrated as such, but each year an international women's day was marked. On this day the men were supposed to do the kitchen and housework.

COULDN'T STAND UP

NELSON (CP) — As Judge Leo Gasner rose to leave the courtroom everyone stood up except one woman. Sheriff Fox said loudly and with a touch of impatience: "Please stand up." Replied the spectator timidly: "I can't. My dress is caught in my chair."

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is a case of like father, like daughter for Nima Tenzing.

Father, a Sherpa, and Sir Edmund Hillary, a New Zealander, were the first men to conquer the world's tallest mountain, Everest, in the Himalayas. Daughter has climbed mountains too just about since she could toddle, and was part of an all-woman expedition that attempted to scale another Asian peak, the ninth highest, but halted the climb when two of the party were buried in an avalanche.

★ ★ ★

Now, Miss Tenzing is looking at the world from other heights — the skyscrapers of New York — as she makes her first trip to North America.

But viewing from 60 stories up or from 39,000 feet in a jet is not the same as the view from atop a mountain, she said. The Sherpas' love of their lofty world is "deep in the blood." When men are asked why they endanger their lives to conquer the unconquered white world, the answer is familiar: "Because it's there."

Miss Tenzing gave this answer. "Why climb? It is difficult to explain ... there is something within you ... you see up above and you want to know what's there. You get impatient for the space beyond. From an airplane, it is not the same. There is no challenge."

★ ★ ★

Miss Tenzing is a slim, pretty brunette, five feet three inches tall, and the second of four children of Tenzing Norkey (he rarely uses the other name). Tenzing long has been guiding climbing expeditions and it was he and Hillary who on May 29, 1953, scaled 29,028-foot Everest.

Tenzing, a Nepalese now living in India, still is guiding and also directing field training for the government-sponsored Himalayan Mountaineering Institute at Darjeeling.

★ ★ ★

Nima called Darjeeling home until two and one-half years ago when she took a job in Brussels, to promote tea, one of Darjeeling's most famous exports. Her work takes her throughout western Europe. Vacation brought her to Canada to see Expo '67 and on to New York for a few days.

She came to the UPI office in a pale green chuba, a Tibetan dress which is draped much like a sari. No mini-skirts for her in Europe even, she said. "We are brought up strictly. I just think those short skirts are ridiculous."

★ ★ ★

Sherpas (the name comes from sher, meaning east) are Buddhists, Miss Tenzing explained. But she was educated at the Jesuits' college in Darjeeling. "It is not unusual for a Buddhist to go to a Catholic school," she said. "There are many missionary schools open to anyone in India." She majored in English and speaks it flawlessly. Now, she's added French.

Nima, her older sister Pempem, and a cousin were part of a 12-woman expedition that in 1959 attempted to scale Cho-Oyu, a Himalayan peak 26,750 feet. It was the first international women's expedition and the leader was Mme. Claude Kogan, a Frenchwoman, who had also climbed in the Alps and Andes.

★ ★ ★

Nima recalled that she was part of the group at camp two, at about 23,000 feet. Others with the leader were at camp four, a couple of thousand feet higher. Suddenly an avalanche, loosened by strong winds and a thaw, thundered downward and buried Mme. Kogan and Claudine Vanderstrater, a Belgian.

They were never found and the expedition ended.

"We did not feel it proper to go on," said Miss Tenzing. "But if we had reached the top, it would have been the highest any women's expedition had gone."

Living in Europe, Miss Tenzing keeps fit by skiing, but not fit enough, she said, for mountain climbing.

★ ★ ★

"When I go back to Darjeeling next year, I will have to enroll in one of my father's classes, to get back in condition," she said.

"Right now, I couldn't get over a hill."

Christmas Late

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It was 71 degrees when Philip Philo, 45, was greeted recently by his wife, Mary, and children as he came home on leave from eight months on duty aboard the cruiser Long Beach off Vietnam. But when Philo got home he found a Christmas tree with the usual trimmings and the presents he missed Dec. 25.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Am I a nut or what? I am a 17-year-old girl who is scared to death of self-service elevators.

I entered a self-service elevator yesterday and was followed by a seedy looking man who needed a shave and had liquor on his breath. We rode to the 18th floor, just the two of us, and he kept staring at me the whole time. My heart was in my mouth until we reached the 18th floor. It was the longest elevator ride of my life. My imagination ran wild and I was a nervous wreck by the time I got off.

If you or any of your readers have some advice on how to fend off an attacker in an elevator, please pass it along. — R.S.

Dear R.S.: Do not get into a self service elevator with a lone man. Wait until someone else comes along or just stand there and let the lone man go up. Then take the car on the next trip.

If you are in a self-service elevator alone and a suspicious looking man gets on, press the button and get out at the next floor, wait for the elevator to return empty and proceed to your destination.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: This is the first time I have ever written to a newspaper but I can no longer remain silent while counsellors tell mothers not to interfere when a father disciplines his child.

Tonight my husband knocked our son off the dining room chair, pulled him into the hall, slammed his head against the wall and threw him up the stairs to his room. What kind of mother could witness this sort of violence and remain silent? I said plenty, and right in front of the boy, too.

This is contrary to what the counsellors advise, but I feel children must know that at least one parent is rational and loves them. This wild temper of my husband's showed itself before and I stood up for our son. The counsellor told me it would have been better had I waited until the child was in bed, then told my husband that he should not have hit the boy so hard.

Please, An Landers, say something in your column about this. I need someone on my side. — A MOTHER

Dear Mother: A mother should NOT interfere when a father disciplines a child. But what you describe is not discipline, it is brutality — savage behavior, punishable by law. A father who would slam a child's head against the floor and throw him up the stairs is very sick and out of control. Tell him that he must get help or move out and support you and the family. Every year hundreds of children suffer severe emotional and physical damage at the hands of brutal parents. Some of them die. Don't let this happen to your child.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going to marry a law student next year. He wants to buy me an engagement ring but can spend only $200. A diamond ring for $200 will look like a mummified grain of rice. I can just hear my girl friends laughing behind my back. In addition to the catty-friends problem, my sister was married last year and she got a great big rock.

When I told my fiance that I would rather not have any ring than a teeny one, he looked hurt. I wish I were the noble type who could show a peanut ring with pride. I'm not. Am I wrong? — INSECURE

Dear In: If your fiance wants to give you an engagement ring allow him to do it. But why must it be a diamond? Settle on a pearl, or your birthstone.

P.S.: Those dollar signs on your eyeballs are pretty unattractive, Toots. Yich!

Lieutenant-Governor Unveils Plaque

IODE Shelter Opened Under Fairest Skies

Under the fairest of skies, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Pearkes, Friday unveiled a plaque which symbolically opened a beautiful viewing shelter for the citizens of Victoria.

The shelter is situated just to the left of the road going down towards Clover Point. It has an unparalleled view of the Straits and the Olympic Mountains.

Designed by Mr. S. D. Jolliff, it is three-dimensional in form and about 50 feet long.

The plaque unveiled by His Honor reads:

"Presented to the city of Greater Victoria in commemoration of the Canada Centenary by Municipal Chapter, Victoria, IODE, 21 July, 1967."

★ ★ ★

At Friday's function, Miss Christine McNab, Municipal IODE Regent, welcomed many honored guests, among them L. J. Wallace, chairman of the B.C. Centennial Committee, who brought greetings from the province.

In addressing the large gathering Mr. Pearkes said he knew the shelter with its peaceful surroundings, the mountains, and the ships plying back and forth across the Straits, would bring pleasure to everybody.

Ald. Cecil Parrot, acting mayor, said the city was grateful for the shelter and accepted it with gratitude in the name of all the citizens. Miss McNab noted that in searching for a project for the centenary that would benefit and give pleasure to the whole community, Victoria chapters of the IODE were pleased to accept the suggestion of city officials that a viewing shelter be erected.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of all nine local IODE chapters attended the ceremony, dedicated by Canon Hilary Butler who represented the council of churches.

The colorful occasion was made even more vivid by the IODE standard bearers, Mrs. L. Muirhead, who held the IODE standard and Mrs. R. Murray, who held the Canadian flag.

At the end of the affair His Honor, who was attended by aide-de-camp Lieut.-Cmdr. Ted Clayards, RCN, and Mrs. Pearkes mingled for nearly half an hour with those who came to view the shelter. Mrs. Pearkes wore a pretty two-piece silk dress in navy blue with a blue straw hat brimmed in white.

His Honor sat in the shelter with some of the ladies reminiscing about the time, years back, when Clover Point was a rifle range.

A viewing shelter at Clover Point overlooking the Olympic Mountains was donated to the city by the Municipal Chapter of Victoria, IODE, on Friday. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor officiated at the ceremonies and unveiled a plaque. Miss Christine MacNab, municipal regent, welcomed many guests, including Acting Mayor Alderman Cecil Parrot. Attending the ceremony and enjoying the view are (left to right) Miss Christine McNab; Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, first-vice Regent; Mrs. Peter W. Bell, Mrs. William Blair and the designer of the shelter, Mr. S. D. Jolliff.—(Wm. E. John)

New Cancer Hormone Avoids Side Effects

MONTREAL (CP) — A new synthetic hormone for the treatment of cancer of the breast, said to avoid the masculinizing side effects of other such drugs has been developed, it was announced Monday.

E. R. Squibb and Sons Ltd. said in a statement the hormone is capable of checking the growth of the malignancy temporarily without producing the fundamental biological activity of a hormone.

★ ★ ★

Such activity, the statement said, usually produces in women a deepening of the voice and other signs of masculinization.

Dr. Bernar Lavalee, company director of clinical research, said the mechanism of action of the new hormone is not yet clear.

The new drug, called Teslac, has been approved by the Food and Drug Directorate in Ottawa.

Effect of the drug during pregnancy is not yet known and "caution should be exercised if this compound is administered to pregnant women with mammary cancer," Dr. Lavalee said.

WHY NOT A NEW HOME

TECH DESIGNED HOMES LTD. have speculation homes under construction or you can contract and have one of their fine homes built.

What do the owners of T.D.H. homes say: "May we extend to you our thanks and delight in our new home — We are very pleased with the design it is so comfortable — It was indeed a pleasure to do business with you" — G. & E. H.

CAMBRIDGE — A beautiful split-level home in a 3 or 4-bedroom model with a large living room 22½'x13½' open or separate dining room 14' master bedroom with en-suite plumbing, carport and sundeck. Including large cul-de-sac lot, $2,400 down, full price $21,500.

"Tech Designed Homes, was the third contractor consulted. He was the only one who was willing to draw a new plan, rather than insisting I choose one from a set of two or three on hand. The resulting floor plan, designed by Byron Price, came nearer to what I wanted than any house or blueprint that I had seen" — M.B.

McGILL — Full bedroom contemporary 3, 4, or 5-bedroom model, 2 or 3 bathrooms, sundeck, roughed-in rumpus room, cul-de-sac lot included — $2,500 down, full price $22,500.

"I realize that I was fortunate in contacting you in the first place. I believe your advertising is accurate in that you do provide the best value, dollar for dollar, in home construction in the Victoria area." J.G.

Many other extraordinary plans to choose from. Also fine treed lots in 10 mile point — seapoint Road.

Be sure, be satisfied — Build or buy a Tech Designed Home. "We feel we should let you know how pleased we are. The Veterans Land Act under which we built was most happy with all phases of construction and your tradesmen were helpful and co-operative." — J. & D.M.

Holy Bathtub Frank, Everybody's Coming

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The little bathtub race has exploded into a giant celebration.

"It has gone way over the top!" said a slightly bewildered Frank Ney.

There are now 205 official entries for the bathtub race across Georgia Strait July 29.

There will be so many tubs, escort vessels, official ships and press boats waiting to take off that Mr. Ney predicts "you'll be able to walk to Newcastle Island."

Hundreds of tubs will head for the mainland, in what Mr. Ney, chairman of the centennial committee here, believes will be the wildest event of Canada's birthday.

Rules will be strictly enforced, to keep contestants from drowning.

★ ★ ★

Entries have been received from McGill University, enquiries from England, news coverage from CBC and CBS, the Star Weekly, radio stations and big newspapers.

Denmark's Laterna films, represented by Ole and Peter Roos, and Mogens Bergen will shoot coverage of the armada.

The Colonist will have picture and story coverage of the big event.

★ ★ ★

West Vancouver yachtsmen will provide a crew of crack bathtub watchers to honor the tubby fleet on the last part of the voyage.

All the ballyhoo of a birthday party is in evidence in the preparations and programs.

Mr. Ney announced standing room only will be provided on Snake Island for local watchers.

★ ★ ★

The island is a barren rock which only seems to peek out of the high tide waters.

Governors to the event will be named and awarded a red ribbon of the Royal Bathtub Society.

They are those who have helped in some way to make the event popular.

★ ★ ★

Clubs have offered help and manpower to push the tubbers off with bands (Legion Pipe and Silver Cornet) and pre-sailing parties (Nanaimo Fish and Game barbecue and Legion no-host cocktail party.)

B.C. Centennial chairman Laurie Wallace and Mayor Pete Maffeo will shoot the first flare together, to start the race.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, at dusk, in the water surrounding the city, glimpses of little craft may be seen skimming over the water, like secretive bugs.

And, like bugs, they scurry under cover when approached for closer scrutiny.

"There aren't any two alike," said Mr. Ney.

Gabriola Island has entered one sailing and one paddlewheel tub.

★ ★ ★

Bo Baugh-Allen has a fast little outfit designed somewhat like a hydroplane speedboat.

Many have outriggers, and more have hydrofoils.

Some have one large sled, mounted beneath the craft, and when the five horse kicker is full out they mount the waves and skim along.

Fishermen Slamming American Canners

By AGNES FLETT

CAMPBELL RIVER — For years American tourists have complained about restrictions placed on their sports fishing.

Commercial fishermen have replied that under the guise of sports fishing, these tourists are actually running a sophisticated canning and marketing operation of B.C. salmon.

★ ★ ★

Little America is a resort plot here which is reserved for U.S. citizens.

There were reports that it had been bought by Americans, but it appears the land is owned by two Canadian resort owners, Driftwood Camp and Ferndell Camp.

The Americans had their sport fishing down to a science. The fish are hauled in, efficiently canned, boxed, and taken to California.

★ ★ ★

Commercial fishermen, angry at the canning operation, claimed they have learned the tourists here can thousands of pounds of salmon, selling the produce in the United States.

Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown, writer and conservationist, is one of those concerned about the operation.

He admitted it is not illegal, but he charged: "It is disgustingly unsporting."

Fisheries Officer Pat King makes daily inspections at Little America. He said "everything is perfectly legal."

The fisheries officer pointed out the law allows each person four salmon a day, but makes no rule on the maximum weight.

If a couple fished two months and caught eight salmon a day at a rate of 15 pounds each, they would have 6,000 pounds of salmon ... 6,000 cans to take back to the U.S. and market.

★ ★ ★

S. O. Newton, a Californian, showed us a box of tinned salmon ready to be taken home. He had 17 pounds to show for 31 days of fishing.

Tourists suggested the quota should be lowered to two salmon a day. They said "that would still give us plenty of salmon."

They were quite sensitive to charges they are hogging the fish.

Campfire Ban Now Lifted

The B.C. Forest Service announced Friday it is lifting the suspension on campfire permits imposed July 14 in the Vancouver Forest District.

Garden Notes

A Gallant Enemy

By M. V. CHESNUT

The dandelion is certainly no friend of mine. I fight him tooth and nail with every weapon in a gardener's arsenal to keep him for establishing a beach head on my front lawn.

But you can respect a gallant enemy, and I must admit that I have learned a lot about plant life by studying the quirks and foibles of Taraxacum officianale, the common dandelion.

For one thing, you'll notice that when a dandelion is living the life of Riley, tucked away in a hedge or in a ditch bottom, with good soil and lots of moisture, it is never in any great hurry to bloom and set seed. It will grow upright, with a thick stalk and lots of leaves, and not until the season is well advanced will it yawn and stretch and finally condescend to pop a few flowers out.

★ ★ ★

But put a dandelion in the lawn, where it has to compete with the grass for food and moisture, and where it gets its head chopped off by the lawn mower every time it raises it, the plant is in a frantic hurry to have babies. It will rush its flower buds to the surface when only an inch tall, and it will bloom and throw its corps of paratroopers into the air before you can say "2,4-D."

It seems to me a plant must have a very powerful instinct to perpetuate its species before it dies. When it is living in safety, luxuriating in plenty of food and moisture, it goes all fat and lazy, giving no thought to bearing children to carry on the race. At the slightest hint of impending destruction, though, it will hurry its flowers into bloom and set seed.

★ ★ ★

There are several ways in which we can make good use of this tendency in our gardening operations. For instance, an overly comfortable houseplant which refuses to bloom can often be shocked into flowering by cramping its roots into a pot just half a size too small, or by cutting down on its food and water.

By the same token, you can jolt a fruitless fruit tree into facing the facts of life — and death — by manhandling it in various ways — root pruning, bark ringing, or simply by digging it out of the ground and bunging it right back in the same hole.

On the other hand, your bedding-out annuals tend to pack up and quit blooming once their prime mission in life is accomplished and seed is set. To keep them blooming right through to the end of the season, the trick is to pick off every faded flower, thereby frustrating their efforts to set seed. With the job of perpetuating the race unfinished, they will keep on trying over and over again, thereby keeping the garden gay with bloom.

The same principle applies in the vegetable plot. Beans, peas and cucumbers in particular must be kept picked, for if they succeed in their effort to ripen seed, they will quit bearing. If rhubarb plants bloom and try to set seed prematurely, better try to find out what is causing its feeling of insecurity; it may be lack of food or moisture, overcrowding or exhausted soil.

There are some plants which must be lulled into a false sense of security so they won't be in any hurry to flower and set seed. Spinach and lettuce in particular are ruined for table use when flowering shoots appear.

The trick here is to keep them happy, well fed and contented so they don't get any morbid ideas. By keeping their roots cool and moist by spreading a mulch of straw, lawn mowings or sawdust, you can kid them into believing they are living in a land of perpetual spring, with plenty of time ahead for having children.

SYDNEY HARRIS Makes Case for Mediocrities

Duffers Play the Game

I have been playing chess — if you care to call it that — for nearly 40 years, and my 12-year-old boy, who learned the game only two years ago, can checkmate me if I don't play to the top of my miserable form.

It's not that he is particularly good; It's that I haven't improved much since I was his age. My game reached a certain plateau and stayed there. Like a short-winded mountain climber, I lack the resources for further ascent; my chess legs give out fast.

★ ★ ★

All authorities agree that there are six main attributes that go to make up a good chess player: relentless will to win, reliability of memory, power of visualization, alertness, calmness in a crisis, and psychological shrewdness.

Since I lack all but one of these — in a chess crisis, I am calm to the point of torpor, since I usually don't know what's happening — it is little wonder that my game hasn't got much past the wood-pusher stage. And I could play and study for the next 40 years and still remain a glowing example of mediocrity at its height.

★ ★ ★

Yet, as Chesterton once observed in a different context, "If a thing is worth doing, it's worth doing badly." And playing chess, to my mind, is a thing eminently worth doing.

We should not be put off by the fact that we are bad or stupid at some game. It is a blow to the ego to be soundly trounced by a teen-ager at a game which requires acute mental powers — but it has always been the duffers who have been the greatest lovers of any game for its own sake.

The experts and professionals use a game for their own (often mercenary or neurotic) ends: for money or fame or exhibiting superiority or even baser motives. To us duffers, the game is an end in itself; we love it not for what it can do for us, but for its own internal beauty and elegance and subtlety. We are its true devotees.

When we give up such a pursuit, it is generally because of vanity: it hurts too much to be treated with casual contempt by the masters. But this is like stopping playing the piano because you can't perform a Beethoven sonata as well as Schnabel did. Yet your spirit may be closer to the spirit of the composer than many a polished performer who is all technique and no soul.

Au fond, it is the duffers who support any activity, who keep it alive, who nourish it with their devotion and concern and their futile and noble efforts to master its rich mysteries.

Without these legions of adoring ineffectuals, who would keep the experts alive and smug and flourishing? It is we poor plodding pawns who give the kings their moments of glory and their abiding sense of power.

SOPHIA LOREN Talks to SHEILAH GRAHAM

Age Adds to Beauty

ROME (NANA) — "I was born in Rome," said Sophia Loren, "but I was brought up in Naples." This is why she has such an affection for making movies in Naples, the city she loves best. Some of the Naples-made films in which Sophia has starred are: The Gold of Naples, The Bay of Naples, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow, Marriage Italian Style and currently, The Best House in Naples.

★ ★ ★

Of course, we discussed Sophia's determination to have a child. "The doctors told me," she said, "that my first miscarriage was because I was working at the time. The second time I was pregnant, I did everything the doctors told me to. I stopped work immediately. I rested. But some mistakes were made. The next time there will be no mistakes." Sophia's doctors have also discovered a physical reason for the miscarriages. This will be corrected. She is delaying adopting a child. In Italy, a woman must be 40 years old before obtaining such permission and she must be married under the auspices of the Italian church. For Sophia and husband Carlo Ponti, both conditions can't be satisfied.

★ ★ ★

Was Sophia religious, I wondered. "If to be religious is to have faith in God, I'm religious, but I'm not practicing any religion. Some women cannot have a baby," continued the beautiful actress, "because they are too tense. But this is not my problem." I could well believe it. Despite her difficulties with church recognition of her marriage, she is calm, relaxed and objective. She is always gracious, always gives her time to the visiting reporter. And every year she seems more beautiful.

★ ★ ★

The current film is time consuming. "It's like making two pictures because we are doing it in two versions, Italian and English at the same time," Sophia explained.

Sophia's legs are in the same class with Marlene Dietrich's. "I've always liked the short skirt, she said, referring to the leg-showing mini fashions. "It's a question of taste as to just how short it can be." The British model Twiggy, is about as far as possible in the opposite direction of Sophia's generous frontal measurements. "Would her figure ever be popular in Italy?" I asked. "I think she could catch on," said Sophia, surprisingly. "Not because of her measurements, but because of her face, She looks like an angel. But whether men like that type, I wouldn't know. You can never generalize."

★ ★ ★

The story of The Best House in Naples has Sophia keeping a lover in the attic of the house. She tells her husband (Vittorio Gassman) that the strange noises are caused by a ghost. The husband meets the lover and blackmails him. The ending takes place in England in a real haunted house with a real ghost.

ERMA BOMBECK Pleads for Thoughtfulness

People Despoil Nature

On television a few weeks back we watched an Indian guide his horse along a shallow stream. As his horse restlessly kicked at the rocks, a glistening object in the water caught my eye. I could have sworn it was a beer can. I'm not all that stupid. I know six-packs weren't invented until Kitty opened the Long Branch Saloon in Dodge City.

But the incident set me thinking about the senseless trail of litter people will leave behind them this summer.

★ ★ ★

Man is a strange one. When he brought animals to the city from their wooded habitat, he domesticated them by putting them in cages, on leashes and in harnesses. He put their food in dishes and followed behind them with brooms and dust pans.

When man invades their domain, however, he leaves his manners and civilized customs in his living room.

He starts fires and never bothers to extinguish them, casts his garbage on the waters where it returns as pollution. He cuts down trees and litters the grounds with glass and cans, while his wife digs out green ferns and wild flowers with her paring knife.

Two years ago our family toured a beautiful phenomenon of nature in upper New York State called Watkins Glen. Watkins Glen is a scenic masterpiece etched out of rock with a color palette of greens and yellows.

★ ★ ★

A winding path takes you from one plateau of discovery to another where streams trickle from rocks, great pools swirl below and occasionally a cool breeze stirs patches of wild flowers.

On the walk up I noted a small, white flower which struggled to find the sun's rays the hard way ... through two inches of rock. I remember saying half aloud, "Little white flower, I like you. You're not too bright, but you've got a lot of guts."

★ ★ ★

On the way down I saw an elderly lady with a large handbag and a large brimmed straw hat. She was just straightening up and held in her hand the small white flower which she had just plucked.

The flower would not surivive in her sweating palm more than five minutes. She would sniff it, twirl it to test its durability, then discard it by trampling it into the cement or tossing it to the rocks below.

The proud little blossom that had fought its way through a slab of rock was a victim of human thoughtlessness and greed.

★ ★ ★

A committee for beautification, or a council can't preserve the breathtaking beauty of Nature by themselves. We all must do it. One beer can at a time ... one extinguished fire at a time ... one piece of litter at a time ... one little white flower left to blow gently in the wind to remind us that life is a gift of the Creator and is left to His will, not ours.

Kiernan Weighs Clean-Camp Drive

Recreation Minister Kiernan is considering launching a public relations drive to encourage cleanliness by campers in undeveloped areas within provincial parks.

"If every camper would carry a small shovel and make a reasonable effort toward sanitary disposal, there would really be no problem with people camping practically anywhere it is possible to do so," Mr. Kiernan said Friday.

EARLIER REPORT

The minister was commenting on Colonist reports that overflow campers from the new Ralph River campsite were ordered to leave a nearby boat launching area and roads leading to natural campsites on Buttle Lake were closed.

Mr. Kiernan said he has reviewed the situation on the Dominion Day holiday weekend and requested a written report on the incident.

EVERY EFFORT

"The general instructions issued to parks supervisors are to make every reasonable effort to accommodate people even though the designated camping facilities of the park are filled," he said.

"If the newspaper report is correct, then some person, so far unidentified, has acted in a manner not in accordance with this policy. However, generally I've found it is best to listen to both sides before making a decision."

PARKS BRANCH

The parks branch shies away from "random camping" because the lack of facilities at these undesignated campsites inevitably results in a barrage of complaints from users.

"This is a real problem to which, so far, we have found no solution," said Mr. Kiernan. "Experience has shown that the only way to maintain a reasonable standard of cleanliness, both in garbage and sanitation, is to consolidate camping and picnic sites. Even then we have occasional complaints."

OTHER AREAS

In other areas where camping is possible, particularly on lake shores, the blatant disregard of some campers for even the most elementary sanitation quickly makes the area unsavory, the minister said.

Mr. Kiernan said he is considering publishing a camper's manual and would like to try, as an experiment, clearing of overflow areas in some popular spots. These would not be campsites and would have minimum or perhaps no facilities whatever.

Signs posted there could warn users the sites were undeveloped and urge them to leave the area clean and tidy for those who follow.

The minister said although B.C. now has 5,000 campsites it obviously can't control distribution of campers and therefore overflow areas are becoming increasingly necessary.

Visiting MLA Dave Barrett (NDP-Coquitlam) said here Friday Western Mines dictates government policy in Strathcona Park and campers should not be surprised they rate second in importance to mining interests.

Mr. Kiernan is aggressively pursuing a policy of accommodating mine owners and developers in all provincial parks, said Mr. Barrett, and he predicted "campers beware."

Viets Urged On by Chinese

TOKYO (AP) — China urged North Vietnam to make it a long fight in Vietnam as the two Asian allies began a new round of aid talks in Peking Friday.

★ ★ ★

A North Vietnamese economic delegation, headed by Vice-Premier Le Thang Nghi, arrived in the Chinese capital Thursday for what Hanoi's Vietnam news agency described as "talks on aid and economic questions."

Meanwhile, the ground war in South Vietnam flared in two hot battles Friday while carrier-based U.S. Navy planes were reported to have knocked down three Communist MiG fighters in the summer's first signigicant dogfight over North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen said 380 Communists died under the guns of South Korean and South Vietnamese troops in the South.

Korean soldiers overran a jungle headquarters of the 95th Viet Cong Regiment Friday in coastal Bindh Dinh province 275 miles northeast of Saigon. The troopers said they killed 140 of the guerrillas and picked up 70 enemy weapons. Korean losses were said to be light.

Reason for Visit

De Gaulle, Expo Point Up 'Fact'

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Friday the state visit of President de Gaulle of France will likely make Canadians more aware of what he called the French "fact" in Canada. (See also Page 12).

* * *

He compared the possible effects of the de Gaulle visit with Expo 67, the world's fair which he said is contributing toward greater awareness of the existence of about 6,000,000 Canadians whose mother tongue is French.

The premier said it was only normal that there have been disagreements at the protocol level between federal and Quebec officials over details of the de Gaulle itinerary.

Johnson

These disputes "reflect the political situation," he said.

"It remains that the international competence of the provinces, particularly the province of Quebec, is in full evolution."

Mr. Johnson described de Gaulle as among great world leaders such as Winston Churchill "who have forged the history of the world." He was asked if de Gaulle might perhaps do some forging of Canadian history during the visit.

* * *

"Mr. de Gaulle is not coming here to play in Quebec politics," he replied. "The primordial goal of his visit is to repay kindness. We have been received royally in Paris."

Seniors' Title Won By Victoria Golfer

Victoria's Dr. George Bigelow fired a three-over-par 70 at Halifax Ashburn Golf Club, Friday, to win the Canadian Seniors' Golf championship with a 54-hole total of 206. Dr. Bigelow carded a pair of 69s on the first two days of the tournament and led from the start. (See Page 10.)

Assembly Gives Up

REDS, ARABS SPLIT IN UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) —A major split developed between the Soviet Union and the Arab countries Friday night when the United Nations General Assembly voted to send the Middle East crisis back to the Security Council.

The entire Soviet bloc supported the resolution, which passed by 63 votes to 26, with 27 abstentions, while the Arab countries voted solidly against it.

The resolution's sponsors, Sweden, Finland and Austria, amended it slightly at the last moment in an unsuccessful effort to win Arab support.

FRANCE ABSTAINS

Canada voted for the resolution, as did the United States, Britain and most other Western countries. France abstained.

India, which has taken a strong pro-Arab line in the Middle East debate, also voted in favor of the move.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, speaking after the vote, declared that "the imperialist forces who stand behind Israel" prevented the 122-country assembly from adopting a decision on the main question. This, in his view, was "the immediate withdrawal of the Israeli forces from occupied territory."

BLAMES U.S.

He said the United States bears the main responsibility "for all actions imbued with the spirit of hostility towards the Arab states."

But it had significant support from the Latin American countries as well as from the NATO military bloc, he declared.

"The Soviet people harbor profound respect for the peoples of the Latin American countries," Gromyko said. "The Soviet Union strives to maintain good relations with them. It was depressing for us, and we are sure for others, too, to witness the picture that took place almost before everybody's eyes—the picture of rude pressure brought to bear by the United States upon the governments of the Latin American countries where all levels of coercion were used."

'TEMPORARILY'

In adopting the resolution presented by Sweden, Finland and Austria, the assembly also voted to adjourn its emergency session "temporarily." While there was no immediate indication how soon the council would

Lytton Tragedy

Four Board Ferry Vanish in Fraser

LYTTON, B.C. (CP)—Four persons were missing and presumed drowned Friday after driving a car off the end of a cable ferry into the fast-flowing Fraser River.

Police identified the missing as Ray Mason, 53, of Cliffilwack, B.C., and Angela Oates, 58; James Adams, 72, and his wife Harriet, 68, all of Lytton.

Police said the missing car could be anywhere from the point it entered the water to up to two miles downstream. They said it drove aboard the landed ferry, but kept going off the other end.

The ferry, which connects a small community across the river, has been the subject of controversy in recent weeks. Mothers in the area have protested to Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi that the ferry was unsafe for school children to use.

Johnson Speaks Up To Save Tshombe

Tshombe leaves Algiers court

Mobutu Owes U.S. Favor

By DAVID KRASLOW
Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has decided to intercede privately with Congolese president Joseph Mobutu to try to save the life of former Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe.

This was learned Friday after Algeria's supreme court voted to approve The Congo's request for the extradition of Tshombe.

Tshombe was condemned to death by a military court in absentia last March 13 on a charge of treason and he faces the prospect of execution by a firing squad upon his return to The Congo.

Mr. Johnson will not appeal to Mobutu, it was understood, unless the execution appears imminent. Although Mobutu was behind Tshombe's ouster in October, 1965 and the treason trial, he could commute the sentence.

DOUBT RAISED

However, a statement by Mobutu in Kinshasa after the Algerian verdict was announced raised doubt whether he would be lenient. Mobutu said Tshombe had been sentenced by the Congolese courts and "for us he is a dead man."

Mr. Johnson's appeal would be based primarily on humanitarian grounds. It is expected the president also would advise Mobutu that Tshombe's execution would unduly arouse political passions in a country that has been sundered by rebellion and economic chaos almost from the time it obtained independence from Belgium in 1960.

'CIA PLOT'

Ironically, before the court announced its ruling in Algiers, Tshombe told the judges: "I'm the victim of an American CIA plot."

Asked about Tshombe's claim, state department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "There is no truth whatsoever to that statement."

Tshombe, accused of fronting for Belgian mining interests when he attempted to seize power in The Congo, also has substantial backing among conservatives in this country.

IN HIS DEBT

Mr. Johnson put Mobutu in his debt this month when he heeded Mobutu's plea for help during one of The Congo's periodic rebellions. The dispatch to The Congo by Mr. Johnson of three Air Force transport planes and 126 servicemen evoked bitter criticism from congressmen who felt the United States was involving itself in somone else's business.

Guard Call-Out Doubled To Cool Off Minneapolis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National guardsmen were on duty on the predominantly-Negro north side of Minneapolis Friday night to curb any violence.

Minnesota Governor Harold LeVander ordered 600 guardsmen into the area—double the number requested by Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin.

The mayor said the troops were needed both to contain possible further violence and give hard-pressed city police a breather.

TWO NIGHTS

The north side had been the scene of rock throwing, car tipping and fire-starting for two consecutive nights.

Englewood, N.J. police battled gangs of rock-hurling Negro youths. Three policemen were injured.

No arrests were reported.

Meanwhile in Cairo, Ill., city, state and federal officials conferred Friday on action to be taken to satisfy that city's Negro community that something is being done about their demands for new job opportunities, organized recreation programs and an end to alleged police brutality.

SHOOTINGS THREATENED

Young Negroes in Cairo had warned city officials Thursday that unless action is taken on their demands by Sunday there would probably be more shooting and fire bombings such as broke out last Sunday and Tuesday nights.

Cairo police ordered an 8 p.m. curfew and said they would enforce it strictly to keep people off the streets after dark.

PROTECTION THERE

Mayor Lee Stenzel and city commissioners conferred with federal and state representatives on action to satisfy the Negroes. The mayor also assured Cairo citizens there is adequate police protection for life and property.

In Minneapolis, Negro spokesmen have cited living conditions and lack of job opportunities for the two nights of violence.

Less than 3 per cent of the Minneapolis population is Negro but many are concentrated in semi-slum sections of the north side. It is an old area of frame homes, some shared by several families.

Mayor Naftalin said Friday: "Ninety-nine per cent of the Negro community are terribly distressed by these incidents. The people behind them are beyond our reach."

New York Submits Queen Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The city of New York, which has welcomed the aging superliner Queen Mary in peace and in war, submitted a formal bid of about $2,000,000 Friday to buy the vessel.

If the Cunard Steamship Co. accepts the city's bid—and the city fathers provide the money—the 1,019-foot, 81,237-ton vessel will be converted into a floating high school accommodating 3,000 students, to be docked at the old Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Drizzle Of Hope In Air

A thunderstorm gave Western farmers their first glimmer of hope Friday for an end to the drought which has withered many crops in the fields, but the storm also devastated several areas with severe hail.

The storm centre crossed into Alberta from British Columbia early Friday and covered an area from Calgary to 50 miles north of Edmonton and from the foothills to Coronation and Vermilion.

Early indications that the storm might develop into a general rain did not materialize, but in Edmonton at 4:15 p.m. it had been raining for about four hours. In 10 hours up to 11 p.m., Red Deer received almost an inch of rain.

The chief forecaster at the Dominion weather bureau in Edmonton said the main centre of the storm was moving slowly northeast and should enter Saskatchewan early this afternoon.

ELBOW, SASK. (CP) — Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher told a news conference near here Friday the federal government has agreed "in essence" to pay 50 per cent of government support costs for emergency hay shipments in this drought stricken province.

Mr. Thatcher said the province is importing hay from Manitoba and Alberta and moving it from northern Saskatchewan to the south in order to maintain cattle herds during the current dry weather.

Campbell River

Salmon Canners Under Grit Fire

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault has asked the federal government to investigate charges that U.S. visitors are taking and canning "excessive and illegal" numbers of salmon in the water around Campbell River. (See story, pictures, Page 19.)

He wired Fisheries Minister Robichaud in Ottawa Friday after discussing the problem with Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan here.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

Mr. Kiernan, meanwhile, said the problem has been brought to his attention recently, but added while B.C. is interested it has no jurisdiction over salt water fisheries. He said no provincial investigation would be launched.

"I can only speak about fresh water fisheries, which are in our jurisdiction," the minister said. "Each year between 175,000 and 185,000 anglers licences are issued and it would be remarkable indeed if there were not some abuses. Generally speaking, however, I think the vast majority of fishermen comply reasonably well with regulations."

ILLEGAL NUMBERS

Mr. Kiernan said while there is no wholesale abuse of the B.C. fisheries resource it would be erroneous to suggest there are no infractions.

Mr. Perrault's wire to Ottawa said: "Allegations here that excessive and illegal numbers of saltwater salmon are being taken and canned by visiting sports fishermen in Campbell River area.

"After conferring with the minister of recreation and conservation, Mr. Kiernan, I suggest your department undertake an immediate investigation into the situation."

Fought for Negroes

Train Kills Luthuli

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Former Zulu chieftain Albert Luthuli, 69, one of the most distinguished leaders of the Negro people in white-ruled South Africa, was killed Friday when struck by a freight train.

Luthuli, winner of the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize, died in hospital of injuries suffered when hit by the train as he walked across a railway bridge at Stanger, 30 miles north of here.

The former chief, going blind as a result of a stroke suffered several years ago, had been restricted to an area around his home at Stanger under the Suppression of Communism Act since 1959.

Under the restriction order, he was not allowed to attend public gatherings or make speeches and his statements were not allowed to be published in South Africa.

But even in restriction, he remained a strong spiritual leader to the Negro people.

The government relaxed the travel restrictions in 1961 to allow the veteran scholar and politician to travel to Oslo, Norway, to accept the Nobel Peace Prize.

At the awards ceremony,

Radioactivity Suspected in TV Sets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unknown owners of some 9,000 large-screen color television sets were told by the U.S. government Friday to disconnect them immediately pending a check on possible radioactivity.

The television sets involved are large-screen color consoles and table models made by the General Electric Co. in the U.S. and purchased between Sept. 1, 1966, and May 31, 1967. Small-screen color and black-and-white receivers are not involved.

A spokesman for GE said the sets involved are those having 18-, 21-, and 23-inch screens, diagonal measurement.

Surgeon-General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service issued the warning after General Electric, despite a nationwide search, reported failure to locate about one-tenth of the sets the company suspected of emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

Dr. Stewart said tests of tubes supplied by the manufacturer indicated that a "large percentage" of the tubes leaked radiation at levels "representing a potential hazards to human health."

Group Mixes Drama, Has Ball with Race

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO—The Theatre Group has jumped on the bandwagon by taking full advantage of colorful centennial events to bring out its own personality.

So far the club has played host to the North Island Drama Festival and is now arranging a guard of honor for the July 29 Centennial Bathtub Race across Georgia Strait to West Vancouver.

SI IN GUARD

At least six members will be in the guard — a guard to end all guards — when Nanaimo centennial committee chairman Frank Ney starts the race.

And as in the spirit of the race, the guard will be anything from serious; it could set guardsmanship so far back it may never recover.

BEAUX BALL

After the guard incident, Nanaimo Theatre Group members will sponsor the first beaux arts ball held here, the Centennial Arts Ball, for which tickets are even now becoming hard to get, according to some reports.

With Mrs. Barbara Desprez organizing, the club will provide workers to run the administration of the event and is now searching for artists (in all meanings of the word) to entertain.

CULINARY, PAINTING

Co-conveners for the ball, Mrs. Lillian Olson and Mrs. Birdeen Olson have already managed to get two areas of artistic endeavor to participate.

The culinary arts will be represented by the Nanaimo-based Vocational Training School's student chef's class who will arrange a buffet dinner.

Local painter Al Ranger will paint a motif to be used in the printing of tickets, programs and placemats.

CREDIT UNION

The ball will be held Sept. 29 in the Credit Union Hall.

Musicians from many orchestras, representing the Musicians' Association, will be directed by Tommy Donald.

After the masquerade — only event is over, the club will continue rehearsing for its fall production.

This year's choice, and one the club has long wanted to produce, is Twelve Angry Jurors.

The play was written when the movie Twelve Angry Men, starring Henry Fonda and Lee J. Cobb opposing each other, was released.

The script is also available as Twelve Angry Women.

Director Roger Desprez has still not cast juror number 11, because he is having trouble finding someone with an authentic accent.

He said that although several members tried the part, he was not satisfied with their accents, and is determined the part be done properly or not at all.

Tom Told Trouble For Ship Repairs

PORT ALBERNI — Tom Barnett, M.P. for Comox-Alberni, has received a reply from the Department of Transport to questions raised by him in Parliament concerning construction of auxiliary boats for weatherships by McKay Cormack of Victoria.

★ ★ ★

Barnett

Mr. Barnett said allegations had been made to him that such boats, as originally designed and constructed, had not performed satisfactorily and that the final cost had substantially exceeded the original tender.

★ ★ ★

The DOT has replied. The boats did perform satisfactorily.

Minor modifications were required at a cost of $1,988, bringing the total cost of each to $61,763.

The boats are 30-foot steel diesel launches, originally tendered at a price of $59,775 each.

★ ★ ★

They are for use in oceanographic work in association with the new weatherships, Vancouver, commissioned July 1966, and Quadra, commissioned March 1967.

NANAIMO — John Ferguson, 17, was taken from Nanaimo to Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria with serious head injuries after he was injured in an accident Friday afternoon. The car he was in went into a ditch and slammed into a large tree near Northbrook shopping centre.

The tree folded the car up like a concertina to the firewall. Steve Hancock, 17, also in the car, was released from Nanaimo General Hospital after examination. A Jubilee Hospital spokesman said late Friday night Ferguson was in a serious condition.

Holy Bathtub, Frank Everybody's Going!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Royal order of the golden plug will be prize for winners in historic Nanaimo bathtub race next weekend. Centennial chairman Frank Ney and Sylvia Kosfer, who did the spray painting, inspect the golden plugs that will go to the fastest tubmen. — (Agnes Flett)

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The little bathtub race has exploded into a giant celebration.

"It has gone way over the top!" said a slightly bewildered Frank Ney.

There are now 205 official entries for the bathtub race across Georgia Strait July 29.

There will be so many tubs, escort vessels, official ships and press boats waiting to take off that Mr. Ney predicts "you'll be able to walk to Newcastle Island."

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of tubs will head for the mainland, in what Mr. Ney, chairman of the centennial committee here, believes will be the wildest event of Canada's birthday.

Rules will be strictly enforced, to keep contestants from drowning.

★ ★ ★

Entries have been received from McGill University, enquiries from England, news coverage from CBC and CBS, the Star Weekly, radio stations and big newspapers.

Denmarks's Laterna films, represented by Ole and Peter Roos, and Mogens Bergen will shoot coverage of the armada.

The Colonist will have picture and story coverage of the big event.

★ ★ ★

West Vancouver yachtsmen will provide a crew of crack bathtub watchers to honor the tubby fleet on the last part of the voyage.

All the ballyhoo of a birthday party is in evidence in the preparations and programs.

Mr. Ney announced standing room only will be provided on Snake Island for local watchers.

★ ★ ★

The island is a barren rock which only seems to peek out of the high tide waters.

Governors to the event will be named and awarded a red ribbon of the Royal Bathtub Society.

They are those who have helped in some way to make the event popular.

★ ★ ★

Clubs have offered help and manpower to push the tubbers off with bands (Legion Pipe and Silver Cornet) and pre-sailing parties (Nanaimo Fish and Game barbecue and Legion no-host cocktail party.)

B.C. Centennial chairman Laurie Wallace and Mayor Pete Maffeo will shoot the first flare together, to start the race.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, at dusk, in the water surrounding the city, glimpses of little craft may be seen skimming over the water, like secretive bugs.

And, like bugs, they scurry under cover when approached for closer scrutiny.

"There aren't any two alike," said Mr. Ney.

Gabriola Island has entered one sailing and one paddlewheel tub.

★ ★ ★

Bo Baugh-Allen has a fast little outfit designed somewhat like a hydroplane speedboat.

Many have outriggers, and more have hydrofoils.

Some have one large ski, mounted beneath the craft, and when the five horse kicker is full out they mount the waves and skim along.

Ignominious position for Tehu, which went aground in heavy fog

Hot Coffee on the Rocks For Cowichan Fish Boat

COWICHAN BAY—"I went inside to make a cup of coffee to wait out the fog when it happened," said Sidney fisherman James Akenclose.

Early Thursday his 12-year-old, 30-foot troller, Tehu 3, landed on an unmarked rock near Separation Point in the Cowichan Bay area.

By Thursday afternoon the current and the receding tide had swung the craft around so that the bow was touching the water and the stern was left high and dry.

Mr. Akenclose was sitting beside his stranded fishing boat when Bayshore Marina operator Nat Staples took some photographers across the bay.

"No, I don't think there's much damage," Mr. Akenclose shouted.

"The tide will take her off." It did later in the day.

The boat's hull is built of teakwood, which probably accounts for only the minor damage caused when the craft ran aground.

"We had very thick fog here this morning when Mr. Akenclose left the marina to go fishing at about 5 a.m.," said Mr. Staples.

Saturna Island Drive Lacks Travel Money

By AVRIEL KELLY

SATURNA ISLAND — Youngsters here are getting panicky. Can they raise enough money in time?

Schoolchildren on the island have been looking forward to a trip across Canada since 1965.

However it looks like there won't be enough by the Aug. 1 deadline when CNR fares have to be paid.

GOOD SPIRIT

In the fall of 1965 parents of the schoolchildren got together and decided to give their children an opportunity to see other parts of Canada, for which they already have a strong nationalistic spirit.

In 1965 each parent pledged $60 to the fund, and they have been paying into it at the rate of $5 a month.

However, there is about $400 still outstanding.

COST HIGH

Among several obstacles in the way has been an increase in the initial cost of the trip since 1965.

But the children, wanting to prove they are capable of doing things without having them handed on a silver platter, have dug ditches, held raffles, bottle drives and rummage sales, and have cleaned yards and scrubbed and waxed floors.

GRANT OUT

Besides the rise in fares, the Centennial Youth Travel Fund grant committee let the island children down by not helping, originally a major condition to the fund being started.

A side-trip to Expo 67 was planned in the cross-Canada trip, as well as stop-overs in major places of interest.

EXPO FIRST

Now residents realize that a trip across Canada is financially out of the question and getting the children to Expo in Montreal is the main concern.

Planning a last-ditch effort, the children will put on lamb barbecues, South American style, with all the trimmings, for any organization interested in lapping up Saturna hospitality.

LIFE RURAL

The children on Saturna lead a completely different life to that of their city cousins, they work harder, have chores, and their social life is nil. Probably the furthest trip they'll take in their early years if this trip folds is to Victoria.

This centennial year project to get these isolated children out into the rest of Canada to appreciate its vastness and beauty, now looks like failing.

The children ask, "Can't something be done?"

Qualicum Looks Toward Clouds

QUALICUM BEACH — The Centennial Jamboree Friday night and today still retains the familiar sandcastle competitions and foot races, but for excitement, look skyward!

As well as a skydiving display by Comox Skydivers, RCAF fighters and aerobatic Tutor aircraft were scheduled to perform overhead in a colorful exhibition of formation flying.

The festivities opened at 6 p.m. Friday with the children's novelty parade, followed by a vintage aircraft fly-past at 7 p.m. A mile-long swim was also scheduled during the evening.

Today sand castle contests start at 11 a.m. with foot and novelty races for the children, followed by the 2 p.m. RCAF airshow and a skydiving display at 7 p.m.

Fireworks will wind up the celebrations at 10 p.m.

Ponies Show Their Stuff

DUNCAN — Stable manager W. T. Jaggers will take his former general on a stable inspection at the Cowichan Exhibition Grounds Sunday afternoon.

The visitor is Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes

The inspection and presentation of trophies by Mr. Pearkes will mark the end of the three-day B.C. Regional Pony Club Rally.

Mr. Jaggers at one time was sergeant in the unit commanded by the Lieutenant-Governor.

District commissioner of the pony club, Stan Green of Duncan said, "It is a great honor indeed that the Cowichan Branch, which is the oldest in British Columbia, was chosen to play host to this centennial event."

The five competing teams have a complement of nine equestrians, each including captain, three C riders, three D riders and two stable managers.

JUDGING

They range from eight to 16 years.

Visiting young horsemen will come from Langley, Maple Ridge and Vancouver. Team members will be judged on stable management, deportment, behaviour and riding ability in the cross-country event, dressage and stadium jumping.

President of the Cowichan District Riding Club E. P. Robertson, who is the chairman of the regional rally, said the top team is to be chosen Sunday when all results are tabulated — does not necessarily have the best riders or horses.

EAT HEARTY

"The parents of local pony club members are providing meals for the visitors on the Cowichan Exhibition Grounds, and although each team has its supervisor, the youngsters will be on their own.

"They will have to work out their own problems.

"The handling of horses is a great character builder because if you cannot discipline a horse you cannot discipline yourself.

"The effort involved not only takes in a very fine understanding between the rider and his horse but also demands the utmost in physical control."

JUMPING

Today's and Sunday's events will consist of cross-country course riding, a church parade, stadium jumping, inspection of stables, exhibition in ring and presentation of prizes.

Senior judge will be Mrs. Telford Maynard of Vancouver and stable management judge will be Miss Madeline Cuppage of Victoria.

Story and Photos
By AGNES FLETT

CAMPBELL RIVER — For years American tourists have complained about restrictions placed on their sports fishing.

Commercial fishermen have replied that under the guise of sports fishing, these tourists are actually running a sophisticated canning and marketing operation of B.C. salmon.

★ ★ ★

Little America is a resort plot here which is reserved for U.S. citizens.

There were reports that it had been bought by Americans, but it appears the land is owned by two Canadian resort owners, Driftwood Camp and Ferndell Camp.

★ ★ ★

The Americans had their sport fishing down to a science. The fish are hauled in, efficiently canned, boxed, and taken to California.

★ ★ ★

Commercial fishermen, angry at the canning operation, claimed they have learned the tourists here can thousands of pounds of salmon, selling the produce in the United States.

Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown, writer and conservationist, is one of those concerned about the operation.

He admitted it is not illegal, but he charged: "It is disgustingly unsporting."

★ ★ ★

Fisheries Officer Pat King makes daily inspections at Little America. He said "everything is perfectly legal."

The fisheries officer pointed out the law allows each person four salmon a day, but makes no rule on the maximum weight.

★ ★ ★

If a couple fished two months and caught eight salmon a day at a rate of 15 pounds each, they would have 6,000 pounds of salmon ... 6,000 cans to take back to the U.S. and market.

S. O. Newton, a Californian, showed us a box of tinned salmon ready to be taken home. He had 17 pounds to show for 31 days of fishing.

★ ★ ★

Tourists suggested the quota should be lowered to two salmon a day. They said "that would still give us plenty of salmon."

They were quite sensitive to charges they are hogging the fish.

Campfire Ban Now Lifted

The B.C. Forest Service announced Friday it is lifting the suspension on campfire permits imposed July 14 in the Vancouver Forest District.

The district includes the lower Mainland and Vancouver Island.

He urged the public to "continue to exercise extreme caution in the forests."

WHY NOT A NEW HOME

TECH DESIGNED HOMES LTD. have speculation homes under construction or you can contract and have one of their fine homes built.

What do the owners of T.D.H. houses say: "May we extend to you our thanks and delight in our new home — We are very pleased with the design it is so comfortable — It was indeed a pleasure to do business with you" — G. & E. H.

CAMBRIDGE — A beautiful split-level home in a 3 or 4-bedroom model with a large living room 22½'x13½' open or separate dining room 14' master bedroom with en-suite plumbing, carport and sundeck including large cul-de-sac lot, $2,300 down, full price $21,300.

"Tech Designed Homes, was the third contractor consulted. He was the only one who was willing to draw a new plan, rather than insisting I choose one from a set of two or three on hand. The resulting floor plan, designed by Byron Price, came nearer to what I wanted than any house or blueprint that I had seen." — M.B.

McGILL — Full bedroom contemporary 3, 4, or 5-bedroom model, 2 or 3 bathrooms, sundeck, roughed-in rumpus room, cul-de-sac lot included — $2,300 down, full price $21,500.

"I realize that I was fortunate in contacting you in the first place. I believe your advertising is accurate in that you do provide the best value, dollar for dollar, in home construction in the Victoria area." J.G.

Many other extraordinary plans to choose from. Also fine treed lots in 10 mile point — seapoint Road.

Be sure, be satisfied — Build or buy a Tech Designed Home. "We feel we should let you know how pleased we are. The Veterans Land Act under which we built was most happy with all phases of construction and your tradesmen were helpful and co-operative." — J. & D.M.

Contents Alone Changed

People out for a dinner at some of Victoria's hotels may notice something familiar about the tall water glasses put before them.

In fact, the husky, generous glasses may bring on foamy reveries of the good old beer-drinking days, when 20 cents bought 12 ounces.

But no more.

If any hotel customers tilt back a 12-ounce glass today, chances are they'll get a mouthful of ice water.

Faced with the problem of what to do with oversize beer glasses, many hotels in town are selling them to the public. In Vancouver, they're going like hotcakes.

And two of the city's major hotels report that they intend to use the old glasses in their dining rooms.

Historians Will Meet

Canadian historians will gather at the University of Victoria Aug. 20 to 25 to discuss their favorite subject.

Approximately 35 scholars, including noted historian W. L. Morton, are expected for the closed-door seminar, one of five to be held simultaneously across the country.

Regionalism since 1867 is the topic of the seminars, sponsored by the Canadian Historical Association.

Apology Sent By Rainier

Prince Rainier has sent telegrams to Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes and Premier Bennett apologizing for cancellation of the official visit he was to have made to the province this weekend with ailing Princess Grace and their children.

Provincial centennial co-ordinator L. J. Wallace announced cancellation of the Monaco visitors' schedule Thursday morning, after receiving a wire from Ottawa.

Princess Grace, who had been expecting her fourth child in January, suffered a miscarriage Wednesday night.

Mr. Wallace said the cancellation was "because of the indisposition of Her Serene Highness Princess Grace, and the illness of one of her children."

The royal family had been scheduled to leave by train Wednesday, to spend Sunday and Monday in Victoria.

Premier Bennett released a copy of the wire he received from the prince. It said:

"Dear Mr. Premier: Owing to the princess' condition we both regret most sincerely to be obliged to cancel our visit to British Columbia. We wish to extend to you and Mrs. Bennett our deep appreciation for all the arrangements which were to make our visit agreeable and interesting.

"May I ask you Mr. Premier to extend to the people of British Columbia all our greetings and thanks for the plans laid out as well as our present concern for the trouble which this cancellation is causing. The princess and myself send you and Mrs. Bennett our warmest greetings. Rainier, Prince of Monaco."

$2,700,000 Still to Go In City Four-Year Plan

By A. H. MURPHY

With $2,500,000 spent, $2,700,000 still in the kitty and several massive projects finished or near completion, the city is halfway through the third stage of its big, four-year capital budget program.

A progress report released Thursday by City Treasurer James Bramley showed that of the $3,387,000 allocated by the ratepayers in 1964 for a series of improvements, plus $1,869,000 obtained from grants and other sources, $2,546,293 had been paid out.

When the ratepayers approved the money bylaw in 1964, the program was to be for five years. However, the first two years' schedules were telescoped and, in effect, the work will be completed in 1968 over four years.

BIGGEST ITEM

Biggest item under parks and recreation was the development of Topaz Park, which is nearing completion.

The acquisition of 8.1 acres of adjacent land from Ocean Cement Ltd. at a cost of $165,200 made possible the development of the lower field with fencing, baseball backstops and dugouts at a cost of $25,600.

The construction, servicing and landscaping of a new restroom and dressing room area will cost $70,700 when completed.

Of the total budget, the lion's share was earmarked for roads and sewers. So far, $613,000 has been spent on roads, including $185,319 on the artery along Blanshard and Rose through Tolmie. This project has been completed. It includes the construction of four traffic lanes, street lighting, traffic signals and concrete sidewalks.

STILL TO COME

Also completed was the projection of Finlayson from Douglas to Burnside, the widening of Fort Street and the paving and construction of curbs and boulevards from Esquimalt Road north on Catherine Street.

Yet to be done is the building of a major overpass-underpass intersection at Wharf and Johnson, and the extension of Superior Street.

Clover Point sewer outfall extension, which now is being investigated, and the construction of a Clover Point trunk sewer make up a major project which will probably be undertaken this year.

Bowker Creek enclosure, a job which has taken several years, has been completed at a cost of $302,576. All of the creek now has been enclosed, with the exception of the portion at the east end of the Victoria section of Kings Road and the portion near Fort Street and Foul Bay Road.

The development of a heliport for Victoria is another project which has been virtually completed. This was done at a cost of $32,270.

Bastion Square restoration has been completed in the main, and the Centennial Square parking facility is in operation.

Urban renewal in the Blanshard-Rose area will be a continuing project in 1968. Land acquisition for this job is now going on.

TENDERS FOR RE-ROOFING

SEALED tenders on bidders own form will be received by the City Clerk, City Hall, Victoria, B.C., up until noon on Thursday, July 27, 1967, for re-roofing a section of the Victoria Memorial Arena, 1925 Blanshard Street, Victoria, B.C.

Specifications and plan may be obtained from this office.

Each tender must be submitted in a sealed envelope marked "Tender for Re-roofing" and if in excess of $2,000.00 must be accompanied by a certified deposit cheque equal to 5% of the amount of tender, made payable to the City Treasurer.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Museum May Close

'Disaster' Threatens

If the Maritime Museum of B.C. continues to operate at a loss it may have to close its doors, members of city council finance committee were told Thursday.

In a letter asking the city to exempt the building and grounds from taxes, H. A. Wallace, chairman of the board of trustees, said curtailment of operations was out of the question as the project now was conducted at an absolute minimum.

"To cease operations would, in our opinion, be a disaster which would be regretted by all Victorians. This museum has reached a high standard; its reputation is becoming well known and respected both in Canada and abroad.

"As a repository for our naval and maritime history, it is forming a link with the past which must be preserved," said Mr. Wallace.

The sum of $5,000 was allowed in the 1967 budget to cover taxes, the letter points out, and if this was excused it would go a long way toward cutting down the anticipated $7,000 deficit for this year.

COMMITMENT

City Treasurer James Bramley pointed out Victoria was already committed to payment of $5,200 of a $7,000 intermunicipal grant this year.

It was also pointed out that the building occupied by the museum was owned by the city, and furthermore that the city could not commit itself to tax exemption for any one year unless it did so before Nov. 30 of the previous year.

"Perhaps we should put the city's archives in the same building and take over the whole operation as a city enterprise," suggested Ald. Percy Frampton.

SALARY BILL

Mr. Bramley said if the city did this, it would be taking over an annual salary bill of $16,000, as well as a lot of other obligations. It could develop into a weighty municipal responsibility.

Decision was to defer the matter for further consideration.

Reason for Visit

De Gaulle, Expo Point Up 'Fact'

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Friday the state visit of President de Gaulle of France will likely make Canadians more aware of what he called the French "fact" in Canada. (See also Page 12).

★ ★ ★

He compared the possible effects of the de Gaulle visit with Expo 67, the world's fair which he said is contributing toward greater awareness of the existence of about 6,000,000 Canadians whose mother tongue is French.

The premier said it was only normal that there have been disagreements at the protocol level between federal and Quebec officials over details of the de Gaulle itinerary.

Johnson

These disputes "reflect the political situation," he said.

"It remains that the international competence of the provinces, particularly the province of Quebec, is in full evolution."

Mr. Johnson described de Gaulle as among great world leaders such as Winston Churchill "who have forged the history of the world." He was asked if de Gaulle might perhaps do some forging of Canadian history during the visit.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. de Gaulle is not coming here to play in Quebec politics," he replied. "The primordial goal of his visit is to repay kindness. We have been received royally in Paris."

UNITED NATIONS (CP) —A major split developed between the Soviet Union and the Arab countries Friday night when the United Nations General Assembly voted to send the Middle East crisis back to the Security Council.

The entire Soviet bloc supported the resolution, which passed by 63 votes to 26, with 27 abstentions, while the Arab countries voted solidly against it.

The resolution's sponsors, Sweden, Finland and Austria, amended it slightly at the last moment in an unsuccessful effort to win Arab support.

FRANCE ABSTAINS

Canada voted for the resolution, as did the United States, Britain and most other Western countries. France abstained.

India, which has taken a strong pro-Arab line in the Middle East debate, also voted in favor of the move.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, speaking after the vote, declared that "the imperialist forces who stand behind Israel" prevented the 122-country assembly from adopting a decision on the main question. This, in his view, was "the immediate withdrawal of the Israeli forces from occupied territory."

BLAMES U.S.

He said the United States bears the main responsibility "for all actions imbued with the spirit of hostility towards the Arab states."

But it had significant support from the Latin American countries as well as from the NATO military bloc, he declared.

"The Soviet people harbor profound respect for the peoples of the Latin American countries," Gromyko said. "The Soviet Union strives to maintain good relations with them. It was depressing for us, and we are sure for others, too, to witness the picture that took place almost before everybody's eyes—the picture of rude pressure brought to bear by the United States upon the governments of the Latin American countries where all levels of coercion were used."

'TEMPORARILY'

In adopting the resolution presented by Sweden, Finland and Austria, the assembly also voted to adjourn its emergency session "temporarily." While there was no immediate indication how soon the council would

Lytton Tragedy

Four Board Ferry Vanish in Fraser

LYTTON, B.C. (CP)—Four persons were missing and presumed drowned Friday after driving a car off the end of a cable ferry into the fast-flowing Fraser River.

Police identified the missing as Ray Mason, 53, of Chilliwack, B.C., and Angela Oates, 58; James Adams, 72, and his wife Harriet, 68, all of Lytton.

Police said the missing car could be anywhere from the point it entered the water to up to two miles downstream. They said it drove aboard the landed ferry, but kept going off the other end.

The ferry, which connects a small community across the river, has been the subject of controversy in recent weeks. Mothers in the area have protested to Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi that the ferry was unsafe for school children to use.

Seniors' Title Won By Victoria Golfer

Victoria's Dr. George Bigelow fired a three-over-par 70 at Halifax Ashburn Golf Club, Friday, to win the Canadian Seniors' Golf championship with a 54-hole total of 208. Dr. Bigelow carded a pair of 69s on the first two days of the tournament and led from the start. (See Page 10.)

Johnson May Speak To Save Tshombe

Tshombe leaves Algiers court

Mobutu Owes U.S. Favor

By DAVID KRASLOW
Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has decided to intercede privately with Congolese president Joseph Mobutu to try to save the life of former Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe.

This was learned Friday after Algeria's supreme court voted to approve The Congo's request for the extradition of Tshombe.

Tshombe was condemned to death by a military court in absentia last March 13 on a charge of treason and he faces the prospect of execution by a firing squad upon his return to The Congo.

Mr. Johnson will not appeal to Mobutu, it was understood, unless the execution appears imminent. Although Mobutu was behind Tshombe's ouster in October, 1965 and the treason trial, he could commute the sentence.

DOUBT RAISED

However, a statement by Mobutu in Kinshasa after the Algerian verdict was announced raised doubt whether he would be lenient. Mobutu said Tshombe had been sentenced by the Congolese courts and "for us he is a dead man."

Mr. Johnson's appeal would be based primarily on humanitarian grounds. It is expected the president also would advise Mobutu that Tshombe's execution would unduly arouse political passions in a country that has been sundered by rebellion and economic chaos almost from the time it obtained independence from Belgium in 1960.

'CIA PLOT'

Ironically, before the court announced its ruling in Algiers, Tshombe told the judges: "I'm the victim of an American CIA plot."

Asked about Tshombe's claim, state department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "There is no truth whatsoever to that statement."

Tshombe, accused of fronting for Belgian mining interests when he attempted to seize power in The Congo, also has substantial backing among conservatives in this country.

IN HIS DEBT

Mr. Johnson put Mobutu in his debt this month when he heeded Mobutu's plea for help during one of The Congo's periodic rebellions. The dispatch to The Congo by Mr. Johnson of three Air Force transport planes and 126 servicemen evoked bitter criticism from congressmen who felt the United States was involving itself in somone else's business.

Guard Call-Out Doubled To Cool Off Minneapolis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National guardsmen were on duty on the predominantly-Negro north side of Minneapolis Friday night to curb any violence.

Minnesota Governor Harold LeVander ordered 600 guardsmen into the area—double the number requested by Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin.

The mayor said the troops were needed both to contain possible further violence and give hard-pressed city police a breather.

TWO NIGHTS

The north side had been the scene of rock throwing, car tipping and fire-starting for two consecutive nights.

Englewood, N.J. police battled gangs of rock-hurling Negro youths. Three policemen were injured.

No arrests were reported.

Meanwhile in Cairo, Ill., city, state and federal officials conferred Friday on action to be taken to satisfy that city's Negro community that something is being done about their demands for new job opportunities, organized recreation programs and an end to alleged police brutality.

SHOOTINGS THREATENED

Young Negroes in Cairo had warned city officials Thursday that unless action is taken on their demands by Sunday there would probably be more shooting and fire bombings such as broke out last Sunday and Tuesday nights.

Cairo police ordered an 8 p.m. curfew and said they would enforce it strictly to keep people off the streets after dark.

PROTECTION THERE

Mayor Lee Stenzel and city commissioners conferred with federal and state representatives on action to satisfy the Negroes. The mayor also assured Cairo citizens there is adequate police protection for life and property.

In Minneapolis, Negro spokesmen have cited living conditions and lack of job opportunities for the two nights of violence.

Less than 3 per cent of the Minneapolis population is Negro but many are concentrated in semi-slum sections of the north side. It is an old area of frame homes, some shared by several families.

Mayor Naftalin said Friday: "Ninety-nine per cent of the Negro community are terribly distressed by these incidents. The people behind them are beyond our reach."

New York Submits Queen Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The city of New York, which has welcomed the aging superliner Queen Mary in peace and in war, submitted a formal bid of about $2,000,000 Friday to buy the vessel.

If the Cunard Steamship Co. accepts the city's bid—and the city fathers provide the money—the 1,019-foot, 81,237-ton vessel will be converted into a floating high school accommodating 3,000 students, to be docked at the old Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Drizzle Of Hope In Air

A thunderstorm gave western farmers their first glimmer of hope Friday for an end to the drought which has withered many crops in the fields, but the storm also devastated several areas with severe hail.

The storm centre crossed into Alberta from British Columbia early Friday and covered an area from Calgary to 50 miles north of Edmonton and from the foothills to Coronation and Vermilion.

ELBOW, Sask. (CP) — Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher told a news conference near here Friday the federal government has agreed "in essence" to pay 50 per cent of government support costs for emergency hay shipments in this drought stricken province.

ZURICH (UPI) — Eight European climbers fell to their deaths from Swiss alpine slopes and peaks Friday, police said. In one instance, four men plunged to their doom while trying to climb the dreaded "Killer Wall" of the Eiger north wall.

Train Kills Luthuli

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Former Zulu chieftain Albert Luthuli, 69, one of the most distinguished leaders of the Negro people in white-ruled South Africa, was killed Friday when struck by a freight train.

Luthuli, winner of the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize, died in hospital of injuries suffered when hit by the train as he walked across a railway bridge at Stanger, 30 miles north of here.

The former chief, going blind as a result of a stroke suffered several years ago, had been restricted to an area around his home at Stanger under the Suppression of Communism Act since 1959.

Under the restriction order, he was not allowed to attend public gatherings or make speeches and his statements were not allowed to be published in South Africa.

But even in restriction, he remained a strong spiritual leader to the Negro people.

The government relaxed the travel restrictions in 1961 to allow the veteran scholar and politician to travel to Oslo, Norway, to accept the Nobel Peace Prize.

Salmon Canners Under Grit Fire

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault has asked the federal government to investigate charges that U.S. visitors are taking and canning "excessive and illegal" numbers of salmon in the water around Campbell River. (See story, picture, Page 32.)

He wired Fisheries Minister Robichaud in Ottawa Friday after discussing the problem with Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan here.

Mr. Kiernan, meanwhile, said the problem has been brought to his attention recently, but added while B.C. is interested it has no jurisdiction over salt water fisheries. He said no provincial investigation would be launched.

"I can only speak about fresh water fisheries, which are in our jurisdiction," the minister said. "Each year between 175,000 and 185,000 anglers licences are issued and it would be remarkable indeed if there were not some abuses. Generally speaking, however, I think the vast majority of fishermen comply reasonably well with regulations."

ILLEGAL NUMBERS

Mr. Kiernan said while there is no wholesale abuse of the B.C. fisheries resource it would be erroneous to suggest there are no infractions.

Mr. Perrault's wire to Ottawa said: "Allegations here that excessive and illegal numbers of saltwater salmon are being taken and canned by visiting sports fishermen in Campbell River area.

"After conferring with the Minister of Recreation and Conservation, Mr. Kiernan, I suggest your department undertake an immediate investigation into the situation."

Radioactivity Suspected in TV Sets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unknown owners of some 9,000 large-screen color television sets were told by the U.S. government Friday to disconnect them immediately pending a check on possible radioactivity.

The television sets involved are large-screen color consoles and table models made by the General Electric Co. in the U.S. and purchased between Sept. 1, 1966, and May 31, 1967. Small-screen color and black-and-white receivers are not involved.

A spokesman for GE said the sets involved are those having 18-, 21-, and 23-inch screens, diagonal measurement.

Surgeon-General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service issued the warning after General Electric, despite a nationwide search, reported failure to locate about one-tenth of the sets the company suspected of emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

Dr. Stewart said tests of tubes supplied by the manufacturer indicated that a "large percentage" of the tubes leaked radiation at levels "representing potential hazards to human health."

U.S. Deficit Biggest Since 1959

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. government said Friday it ended fiscal 1967 with the largest administrative budget deficit in eight years: $9,900,000,000.

The figure was a billion below government predictions in May, while guesses at the deficit in fiscal 1968 range from 13 to 29 billions. Soaring Vietnam war costs amounted for almost all of the fiscal 1967 loss.

By, For Negroes

Arrest Help Soon

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Black Power leaders at a national unity conference announced Friday their first direct move to aid hundreds of Negroes arrested during recent rioting that left 25 persons dead in Newark.

A group, calling itself the Black Survival Committee, has organized to raise funds for legal defence of Negroes. Its leaders include Black Nationalists, delegates to the Black Power meeting and playwright LeRoi Jones, arrested in the riot area on charges of carrying weapons.

MOOD GROWS

The Black Power conference delegates—their number swelling to 700—reflected a growing mood of alienation from white society as they sought ways to develop self-help programs.

At a news conference Friday, Floyd B. McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said no person "in his sane mind" could predict there would be no further violence this summer.

WHITE PICKET HIT

Even as McKissick spoke, a lone white picket appeared in front of the conference hotel headquarters and was immediately knocked down by a Negro man, witnesses said.

Four police cars quickly arrived, witnesses reported, and officers with their weapons drawn took the white man from the scene. There were no arrests.

Delegates, drawn from a wide range of Negro views, worked here in a strictly business atmosphere. Outside the conference sessions, in interviews, casual talks and news conferences, some participants voiced anger, bitterness and distrust of white America.

'TOO LATE'

"It's too late, too late to remedy the racial situation in this country," said a well-known delegate, asking his name be withheld. The conference formally voted to exclude whites, including reporters, Thursday night and called on participants to refuse individual interviews.

The delegate said racial alienation had gone past "that point of no return" and the future holds more violence, perhaps guerrilla-type action by some of the new "revolutionaries."

'WHITEY'S A DEVIL'

Black Nationalist Ron Karenga of Los Angeles told the conference's opening session: "Everybody knows whitey's a devil; the question is, what are you going to do about it?"

In the workshops, however, the dominant concern was how to develop sensitive, workable programs and involve the American Negroes in a strong, united movement to better their lot.

Powell Absent

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Deposed Harlem Democratic congressman Adam Clayton Powell stood up both extreme and rightist Negroes Friday.

The Black Power convention in Newark expected him to speak and moderate Negroes expected to arrange his arrest in New York on many long-standing charges. But Powell stayed in his retreat in Bimini, where he'll hold a press conference today.

Over 30s Stare Most

Story by NANCY BROWN

Girls who wear miniskirts in Victoria say it's the middle-aged men who stare the most.

"The old boys really seem to get turned on," was a typical comment as Colonist reporter and photographer toured downtown Victoria, Friday.

"Old" apparently means anyone over 30 to the kids who enjoy the comfort and freedom of short, short skirts.

"It's the older businessmen especially who turn around for a second look" said 19-year-old Evelyn Stewart, 1205 Fernwood.

She said she wore her clothes short because they were comfortable and fashionable, "but I hate to think that long skirts may come back."

Sister's Suit

Gail Hamilton, 18, of 1448 Taunton, was pictured wearing her 12-year-old sister's suit.

"She's three inches taller than me," she said. "I don't really like my skirts this short though this isn't really a mini.

"I suppose you can't blame men for getting turned on if a girl wears the really short skirts but most skirts are long compared with shorts and bathing suits," she added.

Ellen Clausen, 17, of 19 Hampton, who is staying in Victoria from Smithers, said she wore short skirts because they are "new and different."

Rides Offered

She said that men would often stop their cars and offer her rides, "but not any more than they do if I wear longer skirts."

"Long skirts, right down to the knee, look peculiar," commented 15-year-old Pat Johnson, 1495 Derby.

"The boys my own age would turn around to look if I wore long clothes."

"If you can wear shorts or bikinis, why not minis?"

Reasons for wearing the appealing, swinging clothes were, said the girls, that they were cool, comfortable, convenient and cute.

Likes Them

Bonnie Moore, 16, of 2862 Wyndeatte, wears the skirts simply because she likes them.

"I've never noticed if the men stare, I just wear short skirts because I have more freedom of movement and because I hate long skirts flapping around my knees."

Bonnie Dennis, 21, or 1734 Newton, said, "Miniskirts are comfortable, convenient and fashionable, and it's nice if the men look at me."

In a hurry for a doctor's appointment, Carol Vaughan, 15, of 900 Mount Tolmie, said her light dress was cool, and easy going for casual wear.

"It doesn't take long to get dressed up if you wear a minidress," she said.

Eyes Swivel

Male eyes swivelled as she rushed on, quite oblivious to the attraction of her clothes.

Lynn St. Hilaire, 15, 564 Hillside, and Robyn McIntosh, 15, 4135 Barber, said they made their own clothes in a length that suited them.

"We like this length. It looks cute, and we're not interested in other people's opinions. All the kids we know like short skirts," they said.

Visitors felt that styles in Victoria were somewhat behind the times.

Fifteen-year-old Jean Cameron from Winnipeg said the girls there were wearing far shorter skirts and there are more of them.

American visitors from Roseburg, Ore., agreed that in their home state there were more, shorter skirts.

A group of older women seated on a bench watched the girls swinging by.

"I like their clothes," said Mrs. Elsie Braithwaite, 77 Fort, a newcomer from Australia who plans to make her home in Victoria.

"They look so young and full of life," she added. "Of course, I don't like them if the skirts are too short and show their underwear, but mostly they do look nice."

'Immediate Dredging Needed'

Clean Gorge or Fill It In, Waterway Society Urges

By JIM SHARAN

Either clean up the Gorge or fill it in, the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Society president said Friday.

"If the Gorge is not dredged soon, then eventually it will have to be filled in," said Lloyd Smith, 137 Kingham Place. But he added in a more serious vein that the society finds the thoughts of a filled-in Gorge entirely unacceptable.

"We have got to tackle the problem now when there are still people around who remember the Gorge like it used to be," Mr. Smith said.

FAR BEYOND

He said the growth of algae in the Gorge has been accelerating far beyond the normal and natural rate, and that early in the summer the algae dies and stinks out the whole area.

"The stench of the mud flats at low tide is unbelievable."

The society claims that dredging of the Gorge should proceed immediately on the assumption that the communities will eventually solve their sewage problems and that polluted waters draining into the Gorge waterway will stop.

HIGH COST

Saanich community planning head Thomas Loney said he did not think the Gorge would ever be filled in, and pointed out that costs of such an operation would be astronomical.

"Even if it was filled in—and I can't see a filled-in Gorge — the land wouldn't be of too much value as far as building is concerned," he said.

"The filling in of the Gorge would be the worst thing that could ever happen to this area," said L. E. Kirk, Victoria realtor. "If it ever came about it would turn the whole area into just typical subdivision property."

Mr. Kirk said the Gorge is one of Victoria's most valuable assets.

"It's far superior to anything owned by other western Canadian cities, and notice the values they place on their rivers and streams."

Mr. Kirk said a cleanup of the Gorge waters is long overdue.

"For the past 20 years there have been discussions on cutting a canal through to Esquimalt Harbor to allow proper tidal flushing action to clean out the Gorge."

This would allow, he said, for the area to become a recreational area as it was in the past.

Meanwhile the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterways Society is seeking support in its bid to start a dredging-of-the-Gorge campaign.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

July 22, 1867

The settlers of Salt Spring Island, who form a large and growing community, complain that fare to that place from Victoria on the steamer Sir James Douglas has been raised to $4 and that in future the vessel will touch at the island but once a month. This step is certainly an injudicious one. Our agricultural interests should certainly be fostered and the efforts of our farmers to find a market for their produce should not be thwarted by the government.

It is asserted that except a higher price of passage than has been obtained heretofore be charged that the cost of running the vessel will exceed her receipts. There is but one answer to this assertion. Advertise for tenders, and see if the service cannot be performed for a less sum than the boat will lose. If it can, then haul her off and let private enterprise have a chance.

No Dentists at Sooke

Desperate Pleas Go Unanswered

There is a desperate need in the Sooke area for a dentist to serve about 6,500 people out to Port Renfrew, according to Sooke Chamber of Commerce president, John Slemko.

"The nearest dentist is in Colwood, about 17 miles from Sooke," he said Friday, "And there's been no dentist in Sooke since the last one retired early this year.

"We've appealed to the B.C. Dental Association, but we've had absolutely no co-operation.

"At Colwood there's at least a three months waiting list — they're taking emergency cases only," said Mr. Slemko.

He said people in the district were wanting to get their children's teeth fixed up before school, and added that it's an awfully long way — some 65 miles for Port Renfrew residents to drive into Colwood.

"We have a brand new dental office, and there's a qualified nurse here.

"Even if we could just get someone to come out part time it would help — there's plenty of work here."

Free Food Stall Will Open Today

Victoria's free food stall will be open today, according to Mrs. Joan Price, stall director.

The stall, which donates food to welfare recipients, will be open from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the Elks' Hall annex at 732 Cormorant.

Fugitives Sought

Anthony Garfield and Donald Hugh Kirkpatrick are being sought by police after walking out of William Head Minimum Security prison Friday.

Garfield is five feet nine inches with light brown hair and blue eyes. Kirkpatrick is five feet eight inches, small build, and has dark brown hair and blue eyes.

'Wine Press' Under Fire

Chamber Digs Deeply Into Youth Periodical

By GEORGE INGLIS

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce board of directors was told Friday that its civic affairs committee is investigating the Wine Press, a publication of the Victoria Youth Council.

"None of us are in favor of censorship," committee chairman Clyde Savage said, in discussing his committee's decision to send a copy of the paper to Prime Minister Pearson.

"We want to know if it is true the federal government is supplying money to the Victoria Youth Council, and if this is the type of literature it is helping to subsidize."

The Colonist learned on good authority Friday that the attorney-general's department will be approached early next week by more than one source, seeking clarification on aspects of the publication which some believe may be in violation of the Criminal Code.

All Activities Probed

Mr. Savage said his committee is investigating the activities of the paper, where it is printed and distribution.

Some of milder items contained in one copy of the publication, which is liberally sprinkled with four-letter words, recommended:

- Organized living accommodations for draft dodgers;
- A program of "destruction and awakening;"
- Smoking marijuana as a "meditational practice" as a "metaphysical herb less habituating than tobacco," both reprints from other publications;
- An easier method of obtaining welfare for those with no wish to work.

Monday night, Oak Bay council heard an appeal by Charles Barber requesting permission to sell the next two editions of the paper in the community, without a licence.

In Regular Manner

The council refused permission for sale without licence, and will consider a licence application in the regular manner of any other business.

It is understood that similar requests have been sent to Saanich and Esquimalt councils.

Helen Beirnes, a member of Mr. Savage's committee, said, "I am sorry to see they are going to receive some of the publicity they so desire.

"This peculiar breed of people, unfortunately seems to thrive on publicity, no matter how adverse. They see mto live to shock and offend people."

Miss Beirnes added, "It is most unfortunate we have young, well-educated people producing such trash. What a pity they do not turn their minds to something more worthwhile."

Funds Source Asked

Fellow committee member W. D. Tindall, said, "My main concern is whether there is any connection with the Company of Young Canadians ... If there is, it is time the taxpayers expressed an opinion on the use of public funds for such a purpose."

"I have no objection to these people," Mr. Tindall said, "but I do object if there is any use of the funds supposed to improve cultural standards. .. None of us are in favor of censorship, as such."

The first copy of the paper came out in February, at a time when the Victoria Youth Council was located at 749 Broughton.

Island, Lower Mainland

Campfire Permits Suspension Lifted

The suspension of campfire permits on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland was lifted at noon Friday.

The B.C. Forest Service said improved weather condition reduced the critical hazard in the woods which resulted in the suspension July 14.

However, the past week was the busiest of the fire season so far for firefighters throughout the province. They put out a total of 274 fires, leaving 122 still burning.

EXTREME CARE

A spokesman warned that unless the public uses extreme caution in the woods the suspension of campfire permits may have to be reimposed.

One fire last week at Skirt Mountain near Goldstream cost the lives of two aerial firefighters when their plane crashed while on water bombing duty.

To date firefighting costs are estimated at $1,033,200, more than double the $404,000 for the same period last year.

MORE SUN

A ridge of higher pressure is expected to bring sun to the southeastern portion of the province this weekend ending a period of shower activity which has helped the firefighters.

Sunny weather is forecast for most of the province with some showers on the north coast.

Charges Go Pop!

Police were called to a Beckley Street address Friday night to answer a complaint that there were three boys drinking in a shed and the complaint turned out to be right. They were drinking orange soda and cola. They were spared charges of drinking in a public place.

Three Sent To Hospital

Three people were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital Friday after the car in which they were passengers hit a stop sign at Richmond and Lansdowne.

Marian Jubb, 69, of Kiwanis Village, was admitted with a leg injury. Millie Boxwell, 81, of Kiwanis Village, was treated for a bruised knee and Doris Spraggett, 64, 1545 Oakland, was treated for shock.

Saanich police said the car was driven by John Redpath, 66, of 1560 Rockland.

Drummers Coming

The K of P Girls' Drum Corps of Roseburg, Ore., will parade down Douglas to the Empress Hotel lawn where they will perform at 8 p.m. today.
